AFL Unions Tie All Ships Here

AFL seafarers in Boston and other coastal ports of the nation quit their ships today in a walkout that swiftly showed what will happen if a general maritime strike goes through. Motor launches streamed out to 22 ships anchored off the Boston waterfront and brought ashore more than 500 seamen in a work stoppage which officials termed "temporary." It was the same story in ports on both coasts; shipping simply did not move.

Simultaneously, meetings began at 3 p. m. at union halls throughout the country on "matters of great importance." It was understood AFL seaman would decide what to do if the National Maritime Union, CIO, goes through with its strike called for June 15.

The AFL seaman at New Orleans announced bluntly they would join in the CIO walkiut.

Meanwhile, as a Washington congressional committee wrestled with the CIO strike-threat, members of the National Maritime Union here staged a demonstration march through Boston streets—appealing for public support and urging against use of the Navy and Coast Guard as "strike-breakers."

In Washington, the House labor committee empowered a sub-committee headed by Rep. A. B. Kelley of Pennsylvania to do all possible to prevent a strike. The latter said hearings would begin immediately and that key company and union men would be called as witnesses.

New York was especially hard hit by the AFL walkout. Jack Dwyer, agent for the seamen, said "There's a 100 per cent stoppage in New York. Nobody is working and it's that-way on the West Coast and at Gulf ports, too."

The 22 Boston vessels mostly are anchored in the lower harbor, Dorchester Bay and off Nahant. It was pointed out many of them had been tied up here several weeks awaiting sailing orders. Union officials only promised to try and get AFL workers—whose number include ordinary seamen, water tenders, wipers, cooks and stewards—back aboard ship as soon as possible after the meeting.

John Hawk, vice-president of the AFL seamen, said his union was asking a 30 per cent boost in wages ranging from $145 to $160 monthly. He claimed that monthly pay was $180 before the war, rose to $200 and $230 during the war and now has dropped to less than prewar levels.

At the same time, the NMU showed Boston what it termed a "roving picket line."

The CIO members met at their Portland st. headquarters and then toured the city bearing placards in support of their demands for bigger pay.

At least 150 marched all the way to Tremont and Boylston sts. bearing banners with the following pleas: "Remember, We Also Served," "We Can't Eat Medals," "Food for Europe and our Our Kids, Too" and "Ship Owners' Profits—21 Billions."

Austin Choice On UN Boon to Council Unity

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—President Truman's choice of Sen. Warren R. Austin as American representative on the United Nations Security Council prompted official hopes today of encouraging a new Soviet attitude in that body.

The Vermont Republican said only that as successor to Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., he considers himself the President's deputy, to carry out policies Mr. Truman formulates.

But Senate colleagues noted that the 68-year-old New Englander will take into his new post a publicly-recorded understanding of what he has termed the "security-conscious" position of Russia.

As American representative, Austin will deal directly with Andrei A. Gromyko, his Soviet counterpart who on more than one occasion has failed to see eye to eye with the United States on world controversies called to the Council's attention.

Noting that he has not publicly criticized Russia, Austin referred a reporter's request for a statement of his attitude toward the Soviets to the June 1 commencement address he delivered to the School of Advanced International Studies of the Foreign Service Educational Foundation.

In that address, Austin mentioned the House vote for a Selective Service holiday and said it must have caused consternation in Russia when that country saw "her greatest ally bowing in subservience to an isolationist minority."

Chiang Calls 15-Day Truce In Manchuria

NANKING, June 6 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek today issued a cease-fire order calling a 15-day halt in the long, bloody conflict in Manchuria.

The truce, effective tomorrow, is expected to clear the way to permanent settlement of differences between the Chinese government and the Communists.

"I am issuing orders to my armies to hold all advances, attacks and pursuits for a period of 15 days from noon Friday, June 7," the generalissimo announced in a message delivered to newspapermen through Minister of Information Peng Hesueh-pei.

"Doing this gives the Communist party an opportunity to demonstrate its good faith and intention of carrying out the agreement previously signed. In taking this action the government in no way prejudices its right under the Sino-Soviet treaty to recover Manchurian sovereignty."

The previous agreement was a January political-military truce, since violated by both sides.

Chiang stipulated the following three matters must be settled within the 15-day period:

Detailed arrangements governing the complete termination of hostilities in Manchuria.

Detained arrangements and time schedules for the complete restoration of communications in China.

A definite basis for carrying out, without further delay, the Feb. 25 arrangement for demobilization, reorganization and integration of China's armed forces.

Queen of Italy Sails Into Exile

ROME, June 6 (AP)—The royal house announced officially tonight Queen Maria Jose of Italy was en route to Portugal aboard the Italian cruiser Duca Degli Abruzzi.

A spokesman said the Duke and Duchess of Aosta had gone to Belgium. The duke and duchess are cousins of King Umberto II, who is expected to follow his queen into exile as a result of the week-end plebiscite which voted the monarchy out and a republic in.

Meanwhile, Victor Emmanuel Orlando, 86, was widely mentioned today as a compromise candidate for the first president of Italy's new republic as the nation awaited the formal proclamation of the end of the monarchy. The president is to be chosen by the Constituent Asembly June 24.

10 Days to File Curley Briefs

By FRANK REILLY

WASHINGTON, June 6—At the conclusion of a two-hour hearing, justices of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today granted 10 days for filing briefs in the appeal of Mayor Curly of Boston from a six to eighteen months sentence on charges of conspiracy and mail fraud.

A tribunal, consisting of Justices Henry W. Edgerton, Wilbur K. Miller and E. Barrett Prettyman, heard Atty. William E. Lahey place full responsibility for the failures of Engineers Group, Inc., on the shoulders of James Fuller, a co-defendant, now serving a prison term for another offense.

"The government has failed to show Mayor Curley knew any of the so-called victims in this case with one exception," Lahey declared. "He never knew or met them. Mayor Curley did not receive one cent. The only reason he was indicted was because he introduced three contractors, yet a Mr. Alley—mentioned during the trial — introduced four contractors and was not indicted.

"All of the so-called contractor-victims entered an agreement with Engineers Group, Inc., only after long conferences with James Fuller. Each was a contractor of long experience. There isn't any doubt that when the Group started out it did not start with a preconcieved scheme to defraud anyone."

When Lahey finished, Atty. T. Emmett McKenzie and Atty. William A. Gallagher spoke for their respective clients, Fuller and Smith.

Atty. McKenzie said:

"If the evidence was 100 times as strong, this verdict was arrived at in flagrant disregard of the rules of this court. The court failed to instruct the jury as to the law in arriving at its findings. One juror was confused. He said, 'They (his fellow jurors) told me I made a mistake.' Then he changed his verdist."

Mayor Curley was accompanied to court by his son, Leo; Corp. Counsel Joseph Scolponeti and Transit Comr. John T. Murray.

Bus Thrown Off Bridge, 11 Injured

Ten passengers and the driver of a Boston Elevated bus, inbound from Arlington to Lechmere sq., were injured today when a front tire blew out as it crossed the Fitchburg railway bridge in McGrath hgwy., Somerville, and sent the heavy machine hurtling through a fence to the brink of a steep embankment.

A section of the heavy iron piping of the railing smashed through the front end of the bus as it crashed into the fence, but did not strike any of the passengers.

Despite his injuries, the driver, Thomas F. Kenney, 52, Maple ave., Everett, worked frantically to bring the heavy bus to a stop and succeeded with the machine a scant few feet from the edge of the 20-foot embankment.

The driver, who suffered cuts and bruises of the left leg, was taken to Central Hospital, Somerville, as was one of the injured passengers, Mrs. Mary E. Wall, Bay State ave., Somerville, who had cuts on both knees.

They were later released.

Nine other injured passengers were taken to Somerville Hospital but the extent of their injuries was not determined immediately.

They were Margaret Rowe, 16, Nashua st.; Agnes Barron, 14, Henderson st.; Betty Murphy, 16, Lowell st.; Lorraine Witham, Pearson rd.; Eileen Sullivan, Pearson rd., all of Somerville; Betty Irving, 21, Harris rd.; Mrs. Ebber Heston, 44, Mystic Valley pkwy.; Claire Foley, Burget ave., and Mary Colletti, Woodbine st., all of Medford.

Several other passengers were severely shaken up, but did not claim injuries.

First reports said there were 15 to 18 passengers aboard the bus, but the figure was later revised after police checked with the driver and other passengers, who said there were 55 persons on the bus when the accident occurred.

One of the first to reach the scene was Patrolman Leon DeFoe of the Medford police, who was on vacation and was driving in the opposite direction when he saw the bus swerve across the highway and crash through the fence.

He stopped his car and ran to the bus, quieting the passengers until he could force open an emergency door and release them.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene from Boston, Somerville, Medford, Everett and the Metropolitan Police Basin Station.

Elevated officials said the tire which blew out had been a brand-new one when it was obtained last June 16. It was put into service last July 13 and had travelled 21,004 miles, about one-third of the average mileage obtained from the line's bus tires.

Election Comr. Langone Indicted in Vote Fraud

Joseph A. Langone, Jr., former State Senator, Boston election commissioner and long-time North End political leader, was indicted by a Suffolk County Grand Jury today on a charge of conspiring to make, sign and file false nomination papers. Indicted also in the sweeping probe of election frauds were Langone's son, Joseph A. Langone, 3d; J. Ralph Granara, whose name was removed as a candidate for Governor's Council, and Paul E. Riley.

At least 10 other arrests were indicated through indictments returned in the names of John Doe and Richard Roe, since state detectives were passed a total of 14 warrants in all.

Election Comr. Langone was named in three counts in connection with the nomination papers of J. Ralph Granara, declared to have been filled out by a crew of workers in a North End undertaking shop.

Granara, Langone, 3d, and Riley were named in two counts charging making of false nomination papers and also with unlawfully signing nomination papers.

Granara further was indicted on a charge of filing false nomination papers.

Langone, who had telephoned the office of Superior Court Clerk William M. Prendible he was on his way up with bail almost at the same time the indictments were returned, appeared a short time later with his son and Riley.

As they announced they were surrendering and Lt. Michael Cullinane began to thumb over the warrants, Langone said:

"Have you got Sawtelle there, too?"

"What did you say?" asked Cullinane.

"I said 'Have you got Sawtelle there?' He gave money and I gave money. I thought you might have him there, too."

(The inquest report of Judge Elijah Adlow disclosed one candidate had been given money by both Langone and Executive Councilor John J. Sawtelle but the jurist pointed out there was nothing in the present statutes to prevent such practices).

After the surrender formalities were completed, the three were taken to the detention dock, where they waited a half-hour before appearing in court.

Langone, appearing pale and disturbed, was unusually silent during the wait and puffed nervously on a cigar. His son read a newspaper while Riley sat staring into space.

Arraigned before Judge James C. Donnelly, the three pleaded not guilty and were ordered held in $1000 each. No date was set for hearing.

No word had been received from Granara and Lt. Cullinane said officers were out looking for him.

Langone, 3rd, Granara and Riley already have appeared in municipal court on charges of election conspiracy in connection with an inquest held by Municipal Court Judge Elijah Adlow. Their cases come up June 20, two days after the primaries.

Divorce Spectator Punches Atty. Doyle

After describing his client as a "well-punched meal ticket," Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle created a stir during a divorce hearing today when he revealed he himself, a few minutes earlier, had been on the receiving end of a solar plexus blow in a corridor outside the courtroom.

Representing Gordon A. Dorrity, Adams ave., Everett, in his action against Mrs. Anna M. Dorrity, Aspinwall rd., Dorchester, Doyle informed Judge Dillon of Suffolk Probate Court an unidentified person, excited over the case, punched him.

Doyle's charge climaxed a stormy hearing of Dorrity's petition and a counter-action by his wife, who had five of her children and other relatives in court as witnesses.

Judge Dillon halted proceedings briefly, then warned that someone would "go to jail" unless the trial could be heard without outbursts or pugilistic display.

Dorrity accused his wife of once slashing him with a knife.

Mrs. Dorrity countered with a claim her husband threatened her with a knife on one occasion and another time held a razor at her throat.

The case was taken under advisement.

QUAKE 4400 MILES AWAY

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—A "quite mild" earthquake in an indeterminable direction about 4400 miles distant was recorded today on the Fordham University seismograph, the Rev. Joseph Lynch reported.

Crash Sinks Ship, Save 12; Mayflower Hit

A double crash of fishing vessels in heavy fog today sent one schooner to the bottom 50 miles off Gloucester and disabled a Coast Guard cutter here in the lower harbor, off Deer Island. The latter vessel was the cutter Mayflower, one-time presidential yacht.

Two other fleet mishaps also kept the Coast Guard on the jump, sending rescue craft to a disabled dragger on Georges Banks and to take a stricken crew member from a trawler off Pollock Lightship.

Most serious accident was the ramming of the 93-foot Gertrude Parker of Boston, which sank soon after collision with the New Bedford dragger Skilligolee east of Gloucester. All of the Parker's crew of 12 were saved by the seven-man crew of the Skilligolee.

The Parker went to the bottom within minutes and Capt. Tom Meagher of the Skilligolee worked swiftly to take off the crew. Aiding were the following members of his crew: Engineer John Muise, Joe Price, Charles Grose, Stanley Stellman, Burt Halliday and John Donegan, Jr., all of Gloucester.

But the Skilligolee herself was badly damaged and began to take water. The dragger Ballard was first to reach the leaking vessel and a few hours later was joined by the Coast Guard tender Laurel.

The Laurel is expected to reach Gloucester at 6 p. m. with the stricken Skilligolee and the crew of the sunken Parker.

The Skilligolee is the former 76-foot yacht of Quincy A. Shaw, 2nd, of Beverly Farms and was built in 1938 at a cost of $65,000. She was sold in 1940 to a New 4400 miles distant was recored a fisherman.

In the Boston harbor crash, the William J. O'Brien, a trawler, collided with the Mayflower off Buoy No. 5. The Mayflower, a hole in her side, limped back to the Navy Yard's South Boston Annex and the O'Brien also returned for a checkup.

Meanwhile, a crew member of the New Bedford dragger Eugene and Rose suffered a crushed hand while working a winch not far from Pollock Lightship. A Coast Guard plane attempted to reach the dragger but was forced back by fog.

Later it was reported the Eugene and Rose had reached the lightship and a Coast Guard crash boat left Woods Hole to bring the injured man ashore.

In the other mishap the 67-foot New Bedford dragger Gay Head reported she was disabled on Georges Bank. Speeding to pick her up is the Coast Guard tender Spar.

Straps Used to Thrash Sick Vets, Probers Told

Charges that leather straps were used to whip several ex-servicemen under treatment at the Veterans' Hospital in Northampton are included among complaints being heard by the federal grand jury in Boston, it was learned today.

While the jury continued under greatest secrecy its probe of alleged brutality at the institution, authoritative reports from Northampton disclosed the strap lashing charges.

Many patients were "grossly neglected" and their pleas for help went unheeded for more than a year, according to the Northampton information.

In one instance, it was charged, a veteran was given a severe whipping because of his repeated begging for assistance. Other mental cases were said to have been left unguarded and neglected.

Families said some soldiers suffering from war wounds went for weeks without attention after they were bandaged. Many inmates complained of poor food and being denied such small comforts as cigarets and shaving brushes.

On another occasion, a former soldier in the hospital for a mental disorder was said to have been knocked unconscious when he resisted rough handling by an attendant.

U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, who launched the investigation after receiving complaints from the families of patients, said the grand jury's study of conditions might extend more than a week instead of the three days originally anticipated.

Fifty more witnesses may be called, he said, in addition to the 200 hospital officials, doctors nurses and male attendants already summoned.

Among those noted in the outer grand jury room waiting to be questioned this morning were Dr. Robert W. Brown, Maj. Walter C. Butterfield, George J. Lagassey and William M. Connors.

Asst. U. S. Attys. Charles E. Cunningham and Charles J. Kalipauskas, assigned to the probe, presented the jury with a mass of documentary evidence.

Move to Open El Books Begun

The state commissioners of public utilities moved today to force the Boston Elevated Railway to open its books to the public, which would make possible further action by the Commonwealth to recover vast sums in excess of true operation costs of the El system.

At the State House, the following statement was issued:

"The Department of Public Utilities has voted to authorize and direct the Attorney General to prosecute in the name of the department the pending proceedings in the Superior Court for a declaratory judgment or decree relative to the powers and duties of the trustees of the Boston Elevated Co, under the Public Control Act, with respect to accounting methods used in making depreciation and other charges to the cost of service.

Chef Released In McGrath Case

Another lead in the two-year investigation of the murder of 10-year-old Frances McGrath at Scituate broke down today when a 65-year-old South End chef was released after questioning.

Frances, daughter of a former Boston city councilman with a summer home at Scituate, was last seen near a bowling alley in that town. Six days later her body was found in Norwell woods.

The chef was brought in for questioning after patrons of the restaurant where he was employed had said he was continually talking about the McGrath case. He had worked at a Scituate restaurant at the time of the crime.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate

IT IS LIKE A CASCADE that endlessly runs over rocks and pebbles, an endless song on the same motif, playing upon the memory to leave there a permanent impress. I speak of the only too oft reiterated phrases: "Try to understand Soviet Russia." "We must understand the Russians."

Why not revise that song occasionally? Why not ask the Russians to understand us? None of the top Russians knows this country. Molotov has been to a conference at San Francisco, protected, as no one else was, by his private gunmen. He established no contacts, rubbed no elbows. Stalin has never been here and has declined every invitation to come. His health is not good enough for the trip but Roosevelt, a sick man, traveled wherever Stalin beckoned. It was a one-way street; it still remains a one-way street.

THREE RUSSIAN NEWSPAPERMEN have been traveling about this country for a few months, and what their impressions may be, we have yet to know, but this much is certain, they have made no direct contacts with those in politics, banking, industry or even labor who really keep the wheels of this country in motion. They are as personally conducted here as an Intourist American might be in Moscow. One of them has been taking an intimately arranged tour of the South and, if preliminary reports are to be accepted, he has done more expostulating than learning.

Few Russians have come to the United States except on missions and most of them have lived in the palatial communities which Soviet Russia maintains in this country where comrade speaks only to comrade and all are watched by NKVD.

STRICTLY SPEAKING, the United States is on very bad terms with Soviet Russia. We are quarreling with them over every issue: Iran, Trieste, Manchuria, Germany, Italy, Poland, Romania, Austria. Courteously we agreed that they may have copies of all our agreements with Central and South American countries; discourteously they have refused to permit us a look at their treaties with anybody. We permit them to maintain a Fifth Column in this country, which publishes magazines and daily newspapers here and holds meetings at Madison Square Garden, where the Soviet ambassador to UN, calling us "a certain country," as though we had no name, denounces us on our own soil, and ridicules our aims and motives as no foreigner could do in Soviet Russia whatever his rank. They not only refuse to permit most of us to enter their country, but refuse admittance to our official representatives to countries which their military control.

We are generous to all the world with loans and credits and military surpluses and food; they are so niggardly that they have taken about 3,000,000 tons of food out of Europe and Manchuria as booty and they refuse to participate in the feeding of the hungry even of countries they control. Why don't they try to understand that we are good-natured because we are good-natured? They conduct a world-wide campaign of cry-baby weeping that they are misunderstood. All that we ask is that we should be taken at face value.

WE HAVE NO ULTERIOR motives; want no one's land; seek to oppress no people; have no desire for any more war. And if a poll were taken of the American people, most of them, I am sure, rue the day when a gang of vociferous left-wingers, most of them on the radio, got us involved in European affairs to the tune of $40,000,000,000 of lend-lease and the Lord knows how much more. If the Russians refuse to understand us as we are and goad us too much, they might discover that when we get mad enough, we might withdraw completely from Europe and then the Russians would have something on their hands which they possess neither the economic strength nor know-how to handle.

Nylons Go for $12, but Outbid Miss Gets a Pair From Winner
INP by Bill Jones

2 Pr. Nylons Disrupt U. S. Postal Auction

Two pairs of nylons caused battles, tears and scenes of gallantry today at the public auction at South Postal Annex. Bidding began at 50 cents. After $5 was passed, Grace Harrison of Allston and William Tibbetts, general manager of the Nylosh Corp., gritted their teeth and the fight was on.

Grace had only $11 and when she heard the Auctioneer Frank McDonough give the stockings to her rival for $12, she collapsed into tears.

"It means so much to me," she monaned. "I haven't been able to get any for three years."

Tibbetts, touched by the scene, explained he wanted them to make chemical tests in his business, but he would gladly give her one pair with no charge.

Before the 500 bidders, Grace put on the nylons and dried her tears.

Chef Aids Cook Flee Lynn Fire

Trapped in a second-story bakeshop when a two-alarm fire swept the Howard Johnson restaurant in Broad st., Lynn, Mrs. Ethel Heal, 32, a cook, was carried down a ladder to safety by a fellow employe today.

The blaze started from burning fat in the first-floor kitchen.

Vernon Brown, 25, a chef, of West Neptune st., Lynn, saw the grease burst into flame and tried to battle the blaze with an extinguisher. As the flames spread, he ran upstairs to Mrs. Heal's assistance.

The pair made their way to the first-story roof, where Brown found a painter's ladder and helped Mrs. Heal to the ground.

Another employe, Joseph Plant, 65, of Andrew st., Lynn, notified the fire department. Randolph H. Cook of Dorchester, owner, estimated loss at $10,000.

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice Joyce Richardson, 23, reportedly one of the country's richest women, filed suit for divorce in superior court yesterday against John D. Richardson II, 36-year-old socially prominent head of a commercial art company.

Richardson, who married the niece of James Stanley Joyce, wealthy Chicago lumberman, on May 3, 1941, was charged with cruelty.

Mrs. Richardson was left the bulk of Joyce's $5,000,000 estate and is a principal stockholder of the Joyce Lumber Co. Joyce, a former husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, died on Jan. 3, 1944.

New Shoe Price Boost Due Soon

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The possibility of a general shoe price increase—on top of a boost already granted for some footwear—arose today as higher prices for leather appeared likely.

Along with this, a high OPA official disclosed that prices for alloy steel—used in small quantities in many consumer products—soon will be hiked again.

So will the cost of steel items needed for housing—such as nails and window screens.

700 CHINESE SLAIN

BATAVIA, Java, June 6 (AP)—British headquarters said today from 600 to 700 Chinese had been slain by Indonesians near Tangerang and 1000 others were held captive outside Kesambi, farther west.

Harvard Honors Ike, MacArthur, Marshall

Harvard University bounced tradition to the high winds today at its 295th commencement, awarding honorary degrees to two men who were not present, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. George Marshall; but, in keeping with tradition, conferring honorary degrees on four men whose names will ever be inscribed in American history, and who were there to get them. Present, to cheers that came from elderly and eminent citizens of the country as well as from 588 students who had earned their degrees scholastically were:

Gen. Dwright D. Eisenhower, Allied commander; Adm. Chester Nimitz, naval commander-in-chief in the Pacific; Gen. Henry ("Hap") Arnold, retired chief of the Army Air Forces, and Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Upon these four Conant conferred the degree of doctor of law.

The Harvard president said, with regard to Marshall and MacArthur, "I hope these gentlemen will be able to be in Cambridge shortly to receive these degrees."

It was learned elsewhere Harvard had expected both men would be at commencement.

They are due to receive the same degrees as America's four other military recipients.

This was the first time in Harvard's history degrees were announced for men who could not be present to receive them. It was the first time in the university's history women reporters were admitted to the Yard at commencement.

Eisenhower drew the biggest hand, when Conant cited him as "a military statesman and diplomat whose character and skill made of coalition a triumph army of democracy."

Nimitz was cited as "the intrepid commander in dark days, bold innovator in years of mounting power, the conquering admiral of the Pacific ocean."

Arnold was honored as the "dynamic chief of a vast moving corps; one of the American triumvirate whose brilliant strategy brought decisive victory."

Dr. Conant addressed Vandegrift as "the commanding general of those who first fought upon the beaches; a valiant officer who directed heroic men."

It was an historic sight for the 588 students, a victory commencement to which they had come in the traditional academic procession to receive degrees as had other Harvard men since the 17th century.

Other honorary degrees included:

Brig. Gen. William D. Cleary, head of the chaplains' school at Harvard during the war master of arts.

Byron Price, wartime censor, now vice-president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, master of arts.

Pierpont Morgan Hamilton, New York winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, master of arts.

Henry Bryant Bigelow, professor of zoology and acting director of the museum of comparative zoology at Harvard, doctor of science.

Paul Herman Buck, professor of history and dean of the Harvard faculty of arts and sciences, doctor of letters.

John Lord O'Brian, Buffalo N. Y., lawyer and president of the Harvard Alumni Ass'n, doctor of laws.

Frank Porter Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, doctor of laws.

Nathan Pereles, Jr., Milwaukee, Wis., lawyer and secretary of the Associated Harvard Clubs, master of arts.

Donald Culross Peattie, author and botanist of Santa Barbara, Cal., master of arts.

Gen. Cleary became the second Catholic clergyman to receive an honorary degree from Harvard. The first was the late William Cardinal O'Connell.

Witnesses to the historic commencement included Sen. Saltonstall, a member of the Harvard board of fellows; Gov. Tobin and his staff, Lt. Gov. Bradford, members of the state judiciary, and city, state and county officials.

They, the honored military leaders and the students receiving degrees, were solemn listeners to a recommendation that the United States share the secret of atomic power with all the other United Nations.

It came from Dr. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, who said:

"As the home of the atomic bomb, America has a great moral responsibility. America, for the sake of her soul, must take the lead in putting the atomic bomb under the control of world government.

"America must, with the wise safeguards of an international authority under the United Nations, share the knowledge and use of atomic power—and with all peoples—for full production and fair distribution within the nations, and for justice and peace among nations.

"Confronted with the atomic bomb, men and the nations, through co-operation, now are to master this modern mechanical civilization or be destroyed in its unregulated self-destruction."

Conant told his audience Harvard had received gifts of more than $5,000,000 "during the past year," including $1,500,000 from Thomas W. Lamont, '92, for construction of another library.

Move to Limit Use of Gas Tax

A joint convention of the two branches of the Massachusetts Legislature approved today a legislative amendment to the constitution to restrict expenditure of gasoline tax revenues to highway purposes only. The proposal was ordered to a third reading.

The convention also approved a legislative amendment to establish succession in the event of vacancies in some of the constitutional offices in which none is now provided.

The principal supporters of the gasoline tax amendment argued it would prevent diversion of funds. Since the tax was established, nearly $150,000,000 has been appropiated for distribution to cities and towns and other non-highway purposes.

Spanish Press Cites Red Peril

MADRID, June 6 (AP)—The Falange party newspaper Arriba said in a first-page editorial today only Russia would benefit from a world-wide rupture of relations with Spain and asked if the United States and England "want the iron curtain to begin at Algeciras."

"It does not seem the Anglo-Saxons are too interested in cutting the throat of the only portion of Europe which maintains order and liberty—yes, liberty—and those good intentions indispensable to the normal living together of nations," Arriba said.

Ohio Electric Union Chiefs Quit 'Red-Controlled' CIO

DAYTON, O., June 6 (AP)—Two leaders of Ohio's largest CIO-United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America local union today sought to affiliate the chapter with the American Federation of Labor after resigning their posts because of what they termed Communistic domination of the international organization.

Ralph E. Moses, president of Local 801 at Frigidaire Corp. (General Motors), told a session of 800 unionists last night he was quitting.

Joined in his departure in the middle of the session by Ben R. Cromwell, financial secretary, Moses asserted:

"All district UE presidents in the United States and Canada with the exception of four are known Communist party members. And of these four, two are definitely known fellow travlers."

In the union's Washington headquarters, he added, "James J. Matles, director of organization of the UE setup, and Julius Emspak, general secretary of the UE international, likewise are Communists."

"Locally, your international representative, Henry Fiering, is a known party member and Communist party leader."

A letter, sent to the local's 8000 members today and signed by the two resigned officers, urged members to shift allegiance to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL).

Hirohito Prods Food Producers

TOKYO, June 6 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito betook himself to farm and fishwharf today in hope this reproachful presence would persuade producers to turn out more food for less money.

Meantime, Japan's leading scientists met with Gen. MacArthur's experts to discuss food, clothing and shelter problems. They were told they would be provided with information and assistance, but the problems primarily were for them to solve.

Hirohito traveled by special train and automobile through rich Chiba prefecture, near the capital. Observers said his trip was a last-ditch effort to ease the food problem.

Army Takes Okinawa Rule Over From Navy

TOKYO, June 6 (AP)—The U. S. Navy abandon the military government adminstration of Okinawa, allied headquarters said unofficially today.

As a result, the Army is sending 75 specially-trained officers to the island, creating a serious problem in the military government section in Japan, already hard hit by demobilization.

Lynn Man, Guest Of Honor, Dies

Stricken as he smiled his thanks to 1200 friends and well wishers who had gathered to honor him as the 'father of Lynn playgrounds," John P. Morrissey, 63, died instantly. His home was in Pennybrook rd., Lynn.

His sudden death at the climax of a banquet in the Lynn State auditorium, scheduled months ago to coincide with the 30th anniversary of his appointment as superintendent of the city's parks and playgrounds, cast a dazed hush over the gathering.

Frank McDonald, toastmaster, finished a speech of praise by presenting a purse, and as the applause faded away the guest of honor nodded acknowledgment.

Then, to those sitting near him, he remarked, "I can't go on," and slumped back into his seat.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, June 6 (AP)—A record for hunger striking was claimed for David Fleming, 27, imprisoned former IRA leader, who has fasted for 74 of the last 78 days.

Wyatt Cites Housing Peril In Congress Delay on Bill

Wilson W. Wyatt, National Housing Expediter, warned today action must be taken quickly on the building program provided in the Wagner-Taft-Ellender bill or housing for veterans would be "struck an irremediable blow."

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups at the Copley-Plaza, Wyatt declared that prompt passage of the measure was essential to provide decent homes, not only for veterans, but for every American family.

"The bill provides three major tools for adjusting the housing supply to the pocketbooks of those who need it—especially veterans," he said.

"One consists of financial aids to permit private enterprise to meet the needs of the middle market never served adequately in the past. Secondly, funds are authorized for technical research to lower costs and improve quality of housing. Third, the bill provides for construction of 125,000 housing units for the next four years to serve those with incomes so low private enterprise cannot help them.

"In addition funds are authorized to aid cities and towns in slum clearance and obtaining land for housing under sound planning principles."

Wyatt declared most of the emphasis on veteran housing had been on quantity and he did not want quality to be ignored.

"We don't want the homes built under the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program to become the slums of tomorrow. That is why planning is important to every community.

"The Wagner-Taft-Ellender bill is designed to accomplish one long-range goal—a decent home for every American—and it is designed so that private enterprise will do the bulk of the job.

"It is also designed to accomplish an imperative objective—provide homes for veterans of low income who cannot be served without its provisions. It means that veterans who cannot buy houses costing from four, six or nine thousand dollars will not be left out of the emergency housing program.

The federal official told a press conference earlier uncertainty about their economic position was causing most veterans to hesitate before investing large sums of money on new homes and that therefore greater emphasis was being placed on increased rental housing.

He said he agreed generally with the view held by many contractors that the black market coupled with legitimate critical shortages made it extremely difficult to build a decent new home for less than $7000.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of the Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School.

Q—Should the seed pods be removed on peonies?

A—Yes. Seed pods and flower stems should be cut off after blooming. This conserves the vitality of the plant.

Q—What flowers will do well in a window box that is in the shade most of the day?

A—Suggest trying tuberous begonias. They can be grown easily and give a lot of color.

Q—What is the best pole bean for this area?

A—The Kentucky Wonder. Use the improved white seeded strain if available. This strain is more disease resistant.

Q—What can I use to hasten the breakdown of grass and weeds in the compost pile?

A—The best way to speed up the process of decomposition is to add some nitrogen carrying material such as nitrate of soda or cyanamid. This encourages bacterial action.

Q—Ants are eating my tomato and broccoli plants. How can this be controlled?

A—Ants give considerable trouble, especially during early June. As there are a number of different kinds of ants, it is hard to give a control. Good results can be obtained by thorough cultivation to destroy tunnels and the use of commercial poison baits. If mounds are near the garden, inject carbon bisulfide in openings spaced eight to 10 inches apart. Cover openings after injecting material. This material can be purchased at your local drug store.

Q—How much fertilizer should be added to a gallon of water to feed plants that are slow in starting?

A—Use about one-half cupful of 5-8-7 to a gallon of water. Water plants about every three weeks.

Troila Gets 7-9 Yrs. in Shooting

Joseph Troila, 22, of Greenwich st., Dorchester, was sentenced by Judge Edward J. Voke in Suffolk Superior Court to serve seven to nine years for assault with intent to kill Joseph Barresi, 35, former East Boston boxer, in a cafe shooting last September.

Triola, against whom deportation proceedings are pending, showed no emotion while Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle argued for a stiff sentence or when Judge Voke made his decision.

Judge Voke then made a stay of sentence pending an appeal to the State Supreme Court on exceptions. Bail was set at $25,000.

SINUS TROUBLE CAN BE CURED with SUPER OXYGEN and NEGATIVE IONS

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR SINUS SUFFERERS

In New England, about one out of five have a "germ" disease referred to as Sinus Trouble!

Nine out of ten so affected believe that because of absence of pain, it is merely Catarrh and needs no relief.

More bodily ailments can be traced to Sinus Trouble than to any other single malady.

Doctors claim that over 50% of Arthritis is caused by Sinus Trouble. The lining of the heart may become involved. The kidneys may be attacked. Deafness and middle ear infection are common, necessitating mastoid operations. Moreover, there is apt to be a general debility with a lack of vital energy, in addition to frequent head colds.

REMOVE THE CAUSE AND YOU REMOVE THE TROUBLE. We have records to prove that this can be done!

Treatments can be taken without discomfort, are moderately priced, and administered under a doctor's direction.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

No Wide-Spread Black Market in Bread, Says OPA

WASHINGTON, June 6 (INS)—A nation-wide survey conducted by OPA revealed today approximately 79 per cent of U. S. communities are facing acute or serious shortages of bread.

The survey also disclosed no widespread black market in bread has developed despite the growing shortages throughout the nation.

This was revealed by an OPA official, who compiled reports from 57 districts on the bread situation.

The official said the purpose was to discover areas where critical shortages have developed and to find out the extent of black market operations.

He said the survey had shown about 93 per cent of the areas canvassed reported the local bread situation has grown worse within the last two weeks.

In addition, the survey disclosed approximately 65 per cent of the nation's retail bread distributors limit their sales to customers, sell only to known customers or make "under-the-counter" sales

Small Stores Hit Heavy Bread Cut

Bread production in Greater Boston continued at from 60 to 70 per cent of the normal output today, although many proprietors of small stores complained their supplies had been cut so drastically that in some instances they were forced to ration a half loaf to a customer.

Most storekeepers, however, reported a decline in panic buying.

The public also can expect a sharp decline in production of pies, cakes and other sweet products, Robert E. Sullivan, secretary of the New England Bakers, said. The shortage of soft flour is as critical as bread flour.

Complying with a request of the President's Famine Committee of the Retail Trade Board of Boston, R. Adm. Morton L. Deyo, USN, commandant of the First Naval District, ordered thinner slices of bread and smaller sweet rolls served to naval personnel in the district.

Final Plea Sent For Mihailovic

NEW YORK, June 6 (INS)—The Yugoslav government was sent a "final request" urging U. S. servicemen be allowed to testify at the trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovic.

The Committee for a Fair Trial for Draja Mihailovic cabled the Belgrade government a renewed plea for acceptance of testimony from Americans who served with the Chetnik leader. They said if an answer is not received in 48 hours it would be taken as final refusal.

"Democratic American opinion finds it impossible to accept your allegation," the cable said, "that Mihailovic has refused both American counsel and American witnesses of his own free will."

Girl Scouts Adopt Aviation Program

Girl Scouts—so far doing their good work on terra firma—are preparing to take over their share of the skyways. With 4000 Scouts now training throughout the country, New England headquarters today announced a drive to spur more Wing Groups to action.

A week from today, sponsored by the Boston Aeronautics Ass'n, 100 privately owned planes and their pilots will go on a pleasure jaunt around New England for the first time since 1940.

One of the group will be a plane donated to the Girl Scouts by William Piper of the Piper Plane Co. and kept at Wiggins Airport, Norwood, for instructions of 14-year-olds.

Mrs. Laura Enman

Piloting the plane will be 22-year-old Mrs. Laura Sibley Enman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Sibley of Puritan rd., Newton Highlands.

Wing Scout leader of Waban, Mrs. Enman is the widow of Warren A. Enman who was killed while fighting with the Field Artillery in Germany.

She received her license in 1945 and is now taking an acrobatic course preparatory to an instructor's rating, so that she can teach aviation to the increasing number of Scouts anxious to make use of the plane, donated by Piper because of the 40-Wing Troops around Boston lead the country in interest in aeronautics.

Mrs. Enman will stop at Providence, Concord, N. H., Augusta, Me., Montpelier and Newport, Vt., Keene, N. H., and Hartford, lecturing to Girl Scouts at each stop and meeting their leaders.

Probes Opened In Chicago Fire That Killed 58

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—A series of official investigations was begun today in the disastrous Hotel La Salle fire, while friends and relatives of victims were completing positive identification of 51 of the 58 dead.

Still unidentified were the bodies of two men, a man and a torso of undetermined sex.

All phases of the flash blaze which routed guests from the Loop hotel early yesterday morning were under official scrutiny.

Meanwhile city officials ordered two theaters and five night clubs closed because of alleged failure to comply with fire and building code regulations.

Five nursing homes also were ordered closed but action was delayed pending arrangements for new quarters for inmates.

Spokesmen for the two theaters, Shubert and Great Northern, said they would protest the order.

A blue ribbon inquest jury of 11 engineers, safety, architectural and hotel management experts probed the conflagration, seeking to determine its origin and reasons why flames spread so rapidly from the lobby up the stairways.

Fire damage was confined mostly to the lower six floors. Damage to the upper floors was caused chiefly by smoke and water.

Of the injured, 32 remained in hospitals. Four reportedly in serious condition.

The hotel management said there was no delay in sending in an alarm and that all precautions had been taken to provide for the public's safety. Division Marshal John L. Fenn, however, said there was a delay of about 20 minutes in sending in an alarm.

Springfield Kin Find 3 Chicago Fire Dead

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Salter, Sr., of Springfield today identified three of the dead in the La Salle Hotel fire as their son, his wife, an expectant mother, and son, the Associated Press reported from Chicago.

The elder Salters arrived in Chicago to join their son and his family for a motor trip. When the son failed to meet them, the parents learned through Travelers Aid that the family had been registered at the La Salle.

The three fire victims were Leonard A. Salter, Jr., 35, an associate professor of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin; his wife, Gertrude, and their son, Leonard, 3rd.

By BETTY ALDEN

NINETY-EIGHT DAUGHTERS of Boston's first families were elected to provisional membership in the Junior League yesterday. They are the girls who are graduating from fashionable finishing schools this week and will be the debutantes of next winter. A number of them are having coming out parties in the next few weeks.

The Junior League, which many people erroneously suppose to be a gay sorority for the promotion of parties and dances, is actually far from frivolous. Before becoming a full fledged member every girl has to pass the provisional course (which begins next Monday) to gain a knowledge of the purpose of the League and the ways in which members work for charitable organizations and assist in hospitals, settlement houses and other community projects. Many a League member devotes a full five-day week to charity work and during the war a majority worked for the Red Cross or joined one of the women's armed services.

Angelica Griswold

In addition to the 98 debutantes 13 young married and post debutantes were elected provisionals. They are Mrs. Richard Foster, Mrs. A Oram Fulton, Jr., Mrs. Stewart Woodworth, Mrs. Samuel Vaughan, Frances Stratton, Louise Penhallow, Emily Burr Garritt, Mrs. Crawford Gordon, Mrs. Hugh Harwood, Victoria Henderson, Joanne Livermore, Mrs. Howard B Hodgson and Marian Humphrey.

First of the debs to arrive for the tea was attractive Margaret Cunningham who follows two sisters, Elise and Edith, into the League roster. She wore a bright yellow blouse with her navy skirt and royal boxy coat. Virginia Pease, Ginger to her friends, came in a gay striped jersey dress and Belle Oliver Hart, in a fuchsia suit with light blue accessories, was with Helena Stanley in light blue with red hat and slippers.

A trio of debs who graduated from Ethel Walker last Sunday included Constance Yerxa, Mary Pierpont Howard wearing her graduation orchids, and Betty Lou Leonard in beige with black accessories. Connie, tall, blonde and very pretty, wore a luggage dress and sporty luggage, beige and black checked top coat. She chatted with Angelica Griswold with whom she will make her debut at the Ritz next fall.

Debutante provisionals also include Claire Reggio, Jeannette Brewer, Penelope Greenough, Cornelia Thompson, Sally Means, Nancy Wedger, Harriett Lamb, Nancy Breed, Fay Dabney, Jocelyn Smith, Adeline M. Johnson, Sarah Allen, Nancy Bayliss, Patricia Perrin, Eleanor Saltonstall Lewis, Marcia Moore, Sheila Morris, Antonia Parkman, Nancy Potter, Hope Potter, Anne Rock, Leslie Stires, Peggy Pratt, Lydia Weston, Lucy Sprague, Jane Stewart, Susan Furlow, Dav Hansel, Ann Garland, Katherine Hill, Mary Hobbs, Alexandra Cross, Jane Kennard, Ruth LaCroix, Suzanne Leland, Barbara Royce, Barbara Bell, Phyllis Ashburn, Beverly Benson, Mary Lanman, Estelle Lawson, Charlotte Leland, Sylvia Newton, Elizabeth Blackall, Lois Doolittle, Marjorie Davis, Martha Houghton, Susan Swain, Elsie Van Buren, Martha Tyler and Elizabeth Stone.

PHILOMATHEIA NIGHT at the Pops Saturday will be a gala occasion to benefit the Boston College Building Fund. Leo Litwin will be soloist with the Pops Orchestra. Sponsors include Dr. and Mrs. Fred L. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Albre, Mrs. John M. Doyle, Dr. and Mrs. Martin J. Ford, Mrs. Richard G. Graham, Mrs. Edmond L. Grimes, Mrs. George K. Lord, Miss Mary Albre, Mr. and Mrs. Byron G. Tosi, Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Mitchell, Mrs. Roger L. Putnam, Mrs. John J. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bannan.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE DOOLITTLE of Los Angeles announce the marriage June 1 of their daughter Mary to Harold Wilfred McKusick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. McKusick of Newton Centre. The bride is with NBC studios and the groom a musician in Hollywood where they will live.

Peace Beats War For Marriages

War — which is supposed to cause a rush to the marriage license bureau—is playing second fiddle to peacetime, Michael J. Manning, City Registrar, revealed today.

The first two days of June last year there were 73 applicants, while this year 168 couples applied.

During May, 1341 couples stormed City Hall, while the previous May there were only 905. By June, 1945, 3502 couples had registered, while 5003 have filed intentions so far this year.

Comb Last Fare Area for Clue In Taxi Murder

Seeking the identity of the slayer of Frank T. Morrissey, Roslindale taxicab driver whose body was found in Medford early Sunday, police investigators today resumed a house-to-house canvass in the neighborhood of Julian st. and Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, where the murdered driver's last fare hailed his cab.

"It ought not to be too difficult to establish his identity if the public will co-operate with us," State Police Lt. Joseph C. Crescio said.

Search of the Roxbury neighborhood was started after a witness notified police that shortly before 2 a. m. Sunday he saw a cab driver and a passenger in a discussion in a cab on Julian st., near Blue Hill ave. He is certain the cab was Morrissey's.

Earlier, police had established that the slain driver's previous fare had been driven to Julian st., only a few minutes before that time.

Police believe Morrissey, who was the victim of a robbery-murder, was on his way to the South End garage of the Kenmore Taxi Co., to quit work for the night, when the slayer hailed him.

In questioning Roxbury residents today, investigators sought to learn if anyone had left a home there at that early Sunday morning hour, or if anyone was seen entering or leaving a house in that vicinity at about that time.

71 Roxbury Boys Join JVA

Swelling the scores already enlisted, 71 members of the Roxbury Boys' Club, Stanley J. Sokoll, manager, have enlisted in the Junior Victory Army.

These boys are among those who are conducting a campaign under direction of John Foley, program director, to collect canned food to aid the starving peoples overseas. The drive, in progress for three weeks, will end Saturday.

An "all outdoor" program for the summer has been drafted by the self-governing group at the Roxbury club. This will include hikes, wiener roasts, strawberry festivals, fish fries, overnight trips, days spent in the woods and visits to Houghton Pond, Lake Waldon, Nantasket and Swampscott Beach.

Like other boys' clubs, supervised by Arthur T. Burger, executive director, the Roxbury group has adopted a French orphan boy named Alphonse Myer. Each month the members send him a gift package containing such articles as soap, toothpaste, gum, candy, shoes, pencils, scrapbooks and combs.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Back to basic training—for good!

BASIC TRAINING IN THE ARMY WAS NEVER LIKE THIS.

Yet this quiet exercising of a boy's eager mind and muscles . . . is basic training, too, for Son — and Dad.

It teaches the youngster self-respect. Persistence. And pride in a job well done.

And Dad? Maybe he's fresh from bleak barracks or broken battlefield . . . home now to savor anew the treasured warmth, the cherished intimacy, of a home that is secure.

Perhaps it re-introduces him, too . . . to a sense of his responsibility for his loved ones' security.

That's why it is vital that the veteran hold on to his Government life insurance! It helps build freedom from want for his family. It's a dike against need. And now is the time to reinforce that dike with additional life insurance . . . assuring his family a steady income over those years when they might otherwise be helpless without it.

When you think about increasing your insurance . . . think of Boston Mutual, always eager to help you in any way we can. For 55 years we have helped families build toward that serene future that only financial security can bring.

You'll always find it worthwhile to look up your Boston Mutual representative. With his "basic training" in insurance and his accumulated years of experience . . . he will prove a true friend indeed!

LITTLE FELLOW A DUPE

IF THE SO-CALLED 'DO GOODERS' accomplished anything constructive, they would merit salutes from the citizenry.

But the muddled-headed kibitzers, who like to label themselves as economic planners, bring a harvest of confusion and snarls.

The current frustration of the post-armistice replacement boom is the direct result of the circulation of goofy notions.

By way of illustration, though Chester Bowles, director of (so-called) Economic Stabilization and his cohorts in the OPA purport that their hearts are bleeding for the little fellows, presumably because they have so many votes, the effect of their policies has been relatively to injure little business and relatively to promote big business.

The whole trend of New Deal economic policy has been in the same direction—the very reverse of what was promised.

In talking in behalf of the small business men, of whom there are some 1,800,000 in this country, Joseph T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, charged that every rule and regulation of the Office of Price Administration has worked directly against the small business man and for big business.

Mr. Meek pointed out that it is the little business man who must "burn the most midnight oil to decipher regulations and make reports, who is least able to bear absorption, who is least able to bargain in a tight, controlled market.

"A 'plan' for all is simply government monopoly and control with the smaller man lost in the shuffle. He is a factor which 'planning' cannot control and which 'planning' must eliminate if it succeeds."

Admonishing against the tendency of little business men to follow false prophets, Mr. Meek declared the small businessman has been "sold out, not only by some of his chosen representatives but by many Congressmen who have prattled about helping him but have given him only burdens, back breaking work, and battle."

Out of current economic crises, perhaps the simple truths will re-emerge.

American experience has shown that government is an overhead cost to the national economy, not a cornucopia from which material blessings automatically flow.

Government produces nothing, and cannot give to Paul without first taking away from Peter.

Politicians, however, do have the capacity to becloud issues, and to withhold from citizens the demonstrated benefits of relying on their own thrift and industry, aided by the creative mind in science and invention.

Once the public sweeps away the cobwebs of fallacious doctrines, the postwar promise of American life will once more be bright indeed.

PAROLES

A SPECIAL, UNPAID legislative commission after weeks of study of the parole system and its workings in Massachusetts, has recommended to the Legislature that the present Parole Board should be abolished and a new, full-time board created in its stead.

These conclusions were reached after full investigation during which many hearings were held and careful study was made of the report of Lewis E. Lawes, noted penologist.

Members of the Parole Board had their say and also the heads of all the correctional institutions in the Commonwealth.

We believe that the findings of this commission should be speedily enacted into law.

There is unanimous agreement that the present parole setup must be improved and the solution of this problem is above all partisan and party issues. The issue, in fact, is not and should not be permitted to become a party issue.

Every Representative and Senator must be free to vote on this bill according to his conscience.

O sorely may I rue the day
I fancied first the womankind;
For ever since I ne'er can have
A quiet thought or peace of mind!
They have plagued my heart
And pleased my eye
And teased and flattered me at will,
But, aye, for all their witchery,
The pawky things! I love them still. —JAMES HOGG.

THE EXPERIENCES of the author of the above with that thing called love appeared to have been a constant source of irritation to him. He also wrote the poem which begins: "Love, Love Is Like a Dizziness, It Will Not Let a Man Go About His Bizziness." This line somewhat resembles the style of Ogden Nash. However, Mr. Hogg cannot be accused of plagiarism as he died 60 years before Mr. Nash was born.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS. Q—What is vodka made from? Have you consumed any of this beverage lately? A—Vodka is made from wheat mash. I have not consumed any vodka lately, nor do I plan to in the future. And that goes double for tequila. Q—Let's get this straight. Who is your favorite red-haired film star; Greer Garson or Jeanette MacDonald? A—Miss Garson is my favorite red-haired dramatic film star. Miss MacDonald is my favorite red-haired singing film star.

Jeanette MacDonald

SIDELIGHTS—Ever see a baseball team of brothers? I never have. But there was such a team in San Diego, Cal., in 1938, all the members of which were the sons of Senator Ed Fletcher . . . An indication of the extent of the efforts of male inventors to make life happier for women is that at the last World's Invention Exposition in Chicago there were exhibited over 900 gadgets designed to make housework easier.

ED GARDNER—The mainspring of that consistently hilarious radio program: "Duffy's Tavern." I have noted it stated Ed is from Brooklyn. That is an error. He is a native of Astoria, a thriving community in the borough of Queens. Joe E. Howard, veteran vocalist, is nearing his 80th birthday but is still a night spot entertainer. He has been featuring the same song, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," for nearly 40 years. The words of this song are by Frank R. Adams and Will M. Hough. Howard wrote the music. It was first sung in 1909 in the musical comedy "The Prince of Tonight."

BRIEF MARRIAGES—As you have no doubt noticed it is not only in Hollywood that marriages are brief. In a recent Chicago divorce case, the wife testified she was "a faithful and affectionate wife from the day of her marriage July 24, 1944, until the day she and her husband separated, July 25, 1944."

PLEASE NOTE—Many insect exterminating experts tried in vain to rid the Capitol building at Washington, D. C., of cockroaches. Finally exterminator "Killer" Miller volunteered to tackle the job. Where the rest failed he succeeded. Mr. Miller is from Brooklyn. It is just as I have often said; among the citizens of Brooklyn can be always found at least one outstanding figure in practically every activity known to man.

OBJECTION—The first name of a male official of an important firm is Beryl. Why parents will wish a female name on a male child is beyond my understanding. There should be a law against it. Not only for the child's own good but to avoid the general confusion caused by such a system of naming. Also consider the domestic discord it often inspires. As for example, a wife in another room overhears her husband say on the phone: "Where will I meet you tonight, Beryl?" A husband with a jealous wife might have great difficulty in persuading her to believe Beryl is the name of a man he met at a convention.

LITERARY NOTE—Lloyd C. Douglas, who despite the income tax and everything is rapidly becoming a millionaire by writing novels, wrote his first novel at the age of 52. So if you are in your forties and have yet to write your first novel be not depressed. There is yet hope.

REPORTERS—Note a reference to the shorthand reporters who take down speeches and remarks made in Congress. The shorthand method of speech reporting seems old-fashioned. Why don't they make recordings of all Congressional proceedings? This would eliminate the chances of errors that often creep into shorthand reporting.

CALIFORNIA, as is the case almost daily, is in again with something to top. A resident of San Anselmo, Cal., says Dick Gianinni of his town has a mare named Bonny who recently gave birth to twins. A double birth is an extremely rare occurrence in the equine world. If you know a veterinarian ask him if he ever officiated at such an event.

"Here y'are, lady—pay at cashier's window!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SIR WALTER CITRINE, a British unioneer, has offered some observations on the American union movement the details of which I will politely ignore to come quickly to my point that he is a fine one to be telling Americans anything about this subject in view of certain past events.

Westbrook Pegler

Sir Walter was the one who was guest of honor that time at the Waldorf when William Green, the president of the American Federation of Labor, threw a tea party to introduce him to the dignitaries of Green's set and who showed up among the chivalry but Joe Fay, the vice-president of the operating engineers, who later was convicted, after a long struggle, of extortion on the enormous Delaware Aqueduct job.

THIS WAS NOT LONG after Fay had mauled Dave Dubinsky of the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, at the annual convention of the A. F. of L. in New Orleans as a protest against the introduction by Dubinsky of a resolution to exclude racketeers from union office which Fay regarded as a direct, personal criticism, as it certainly was. Dubinsky also was invited and he was so mad to find Joe there and socially recognized by a man who had a moral duty to repudiate him that Dave bounced out of the party.

If Citrine didn't learn then that the A. F. of L.'s executive body recognizes rascals, he must be, in my opinion, too dumb to be listened to. And if he did learn about this cynical attitude, which permitted George Browne, as president of the Theatrical and Movie Workers' Union, to sit in the executive council as a vice-president, when he was known to be undesirable, and still thinks we need no remedial laws in our country, then that very obduracy completely disposes of him.

FOR ANOTHER INCIDENT bearing on Citrine's qualifications as an authority on American unionism and a gently admonitory counsellor to the American people, I refer to the time that the A. F. of L. selected as an appropriate man to represent it as a fraternal delegate to the British Trade Union Congress in London a Chicago gangster named Tommy Maloy, who was George Browne's predecessor and later was liquidated by persons unknown with the conventional sawed-off shotgun. On that occasion, Brother Maloy was accompanied by nine of his favorite social and professional colleagues in the official set of the A. F. of L. in Chicago, and Sir Walter remarked that he must be a labor leader of considerable consequence in American to require such a retinue of secretaries.

Can Sir Walter be so ignorant of matters that he should be unaware that another year the A. F. of L. selected as a fraternal delegate an old-time dynamiter with a criminal record and still another time sent over Joseph V. Moreschi, the president of the Hod Carriers' and Common Laborers' Union, whose official roster for 30 years included many of the most picturesque and impudent figures in the criminal history of the United States?

The record of the hod carriers show that when this honor came to Joe in 1931 the mob who ran the racket appropriated $10,000 for his trip "in order that our international shall take a dignified and fitting part," although a less pretentious emissary could have made the round trip on considerably less than one-tenth, and, in addition, shook down the poor working stiffs for a "substantial" check lest he run short.

And Citrine might have heard, were he alert and not over-credulous, that the late Mr. Roosevelt, himself, no less, showed a certain opinion of both British and American labor when he chose as a representative American unioneer to call on the British the Honorable Joe Padway, general counsel to the A. F. of L. and numerous big individual unions including the Browne-Bioff thing, which was shown to be nothing but an operation of the old Capone gang.

CITRINE'S THEME is that unions should not be placed under legal restrictions and I thought I detected a suggestion that they might refuse to obey the laws in such case.

It has seemed to me that, by the very character and background of some of the men whom the American union movement has sent to Britain as fraternal delegates, the American movement indicated great contempt for British labor but apparently British labor doesn't insult easily. American labor, of course, can't be insulted at all and will stand for anything, as the record shows.

Hollywood

By Dorothy Manners
Substituting for Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 6—The little blonde, blue-eyed cutie-pie, Martha Stewart, Mrs. Joe E. Lewis out of office hours, gets a real break at 20th—at last. She plays Lou Lou in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" for George Jessel, a much better part than she had in "Doll Face" and her other movie at 20th before her marriage. Martha's assignment also ends those rumors, well circulated last week, that she and Joe E. are on the stork's list.

Martha Stewart

The minute she finishes the musical, under Lloyd Bacon's direction, Martha goes immediately to New York for Max Gordon's show, "Park Avenue" in which she has the ingenue singing role. She was formerly the songbird with Glenn Miller and Claude Thornhill, you know.

PETER LORRE is one bad boy who has never had the yen to get away from villainy. Why—when it pays off so well? They can keep bringing on the heels as far as Lorre is concerned and so he has just signed for another cold-blooded killer in "The Chase" for Seymour Nebenzal. Come to think of it—Nebenzal launched Peter on his career of screen crime in "M," made in Europe over 10 years ago. But this is the first picture they've made together since both came to Hollywood. Robert Cummings and Michele Morgan are the romancers in "The Chase."

FOUR BEAUTIES are testing this week at Columbia for "Dead Reckoning" with Humphrey Bogart, but you can bet that it will narrow down to Marguerite Chapman or Evelyn Keyes. This is the role Bogey wanted Lauren Bacall to do and which she declined because she's determined to stand on her own. There's also some news about John Cromwell, the director. On the completion of "Dead Reckoning" he leaves for England to make "Jassy" for Arthur Rank but he'll be back to fulfill his two-picture deal at Columbia, megaphoning "Turn of the Century" as well as the Bogart film.

THERE'S BEEN some borrowing going on to get "Pursued" rolling. Today, Milton Sperling closed with Paramount for Fred MacMurray to play opposite Teresa Wright in this United States production and then while his luck was still holding, he got Jack Warner to agree to let Raoul Walsh handle the directing job. Come to think of it—he has Sam Goldwyn to thank for Teresa Wright's loan-out. The slogan for this movie could well be, "Something Borrowed."

After 10 weeks in Europe as a correspondent for a national magazine, Helmut Dantine stays in New York for two lectures and one in Washington, D. C., before hitting the trail to the Coast. I hear his "color" stuff for the magazine is terrific and certainly there's enough drama in his own family to make a story. The entire clan, held by the Gestapo throughout the war, had plenty of first hand information for Helmut. He doesn't know yet what his first Hollywood picture will be now he's free of his Warner contract and free lancing.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Walter Slezak just received word that his father, Leo Slezak, former opera star, died in Bavaria Monday; Mozelle Britton, widow of Alan Dinehart, undergoes facial surgery for a chipped cheekbone this week; it was three dates for Bob Hutton and the little New York actress, Susan Douglas, last week. In Hollywood, that's a beeeg romance; Helen Ferguson's farewell party for Jeanette MacDonald, who left for London Monday, was a honey. Jeanette has cut her red hair short and very perky and everybody likes it but Gene Raymond. Let's face it—the boys still like long hair.

Susan Douglas

In the group at Helen's new home were Lew Ayres with a mustache, Bob Stack and his glamorous mother, Betzi, Louis B. Mayer, Lorena Danker looking like a dream, Mary Brian, Antonio Moreno, the Frank Lloyds, the Howard Stricklings and Bob Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck. If they gave out Oscars for being a swell person Barbara would win hands down. And when Hollywood gets around to giving her that acting Oscar she's so long deserved—and some day it will—it should be for not just one terrific performance but for a whole career of them.

The Brian Ahernes off for New York Thursday, chiefly for a reunion with Laurence Olivier, Vivien Leigh and the Old Vic troupe. Brian and Olivier are very close friends; the James Flavins, he's in "Cloak and Dagger" welcomed their first child after 15 years of marriage; Trudy Marshall Raffin's baby, born Sunday, is a boy, and the Jennings Langs are now the proud parents of a six-pounder, Robert Bruce; Freddie Martin has bought himself a new home in Bel-Air complete with swimming pool and bumblebees which don't play the piano; Reed Hadley slipped on a highly polished floor, sprained his ankle and twisted his spine.

Was it printed that Barton Cregar, brother of the late Laird Cregar, and Lorraine Stoll, young actress, were married at the Bethel Lutheran Church on Sunday?; isn't that 45th anniversary, June 10, for Queenie Vassar and Joseph Cawthorn a wonderful record for Hollywood—or any place?; Eileen Errick Lowther, whose pa locked her in her room to prevent her marriage to Lowther in a front page story of that time, may come to Hollywood to see Georgie Jessel now that she and her husband are separated. That's all today.

Boston After Dark

DOES ANY STUDENT HAPPEN to remember when Joe Cronin was conceded one or two good managerial traits only to be deprecated at the finish of these grudging tributes by the inevitable remark: "... ya, but he can't handle pitchers!" ... Also—his critics took pains always to point out—Joe as a trader was a mooch for every rival club in the league ... Oh, yes? ... Two of his trades saved another ball game Wednesday ... Ford Garrison for Hal Wagner ... Rudy York for Eddie Lake ... Between York and Wagner yesterday, six Sox teammates were batted in ... (Six out of eight) ... It was Joe Cronin, moreover, who Columbus-ed the work of a trio of Pacific Coast ball players, and managed to move them all the way across the country to Boston ... The men? ... Bobby Doerr, Dom Di Maggio and Ted Williams ... These three alone would sell, in event that Tom Yawkey suddenly decided to pull a Harry Frazee on Boston, for twice the $200,000 (actual price) paid for Cronin to Clark Griffith.

PUTTING A QUESTION to students, by the way, reminds this corner that it would like to turn the tables on Kay Kyser and ASK him a question ... In naming his baby Kimberly Ann, did the cap-and-gowned bandleader think he was naming a baby or a motion picture? ... Phil Regan's popularity with the Fourth Estate (and radio) rates at or above par with any entertainer who visits Boston ... As a commercial gesture, therefore, Phil's sixth annual party for his friends of the press and radio—scheduled for this evening at the Copley Plaza—is tantamount to gifting Damon Runyon with a glossary of American slang ... The Regan lad nonetheless is putting on a spread, with refreshments ... It will be his fifth annual party (with one "miss" for a year he failed to play here) since he sang the juvenile lead in a Cole Porter musical which opened in Boston.

REGULAR CUSTOMERS of the Villa Nova who like to place some law on the giddyaps very nearly won dinner-money for a year when Abbot's Maid, Peter "Rocky" Palladino's mare, came pounding down the Suffolk Downs stretch eight lengths in front of the runner-up in yesterday's first race ... The price was $42.60 to 1 ... Rocky owns the Villa Nova and he told the more warm-blooded of the customers who happened to visit the place the night before that Abbot's Maid had a good chance, in his opinion, to win the opening heat ... At the sixteenth pole, it looked as if buckshot or a lasso would be needed to keep the hard-hitting race mare from winning ... But the sizzling pace told, and Abbot's Maid could not stand off the rushes of Oceanus and Pharfox. The show price was quite rewarding notwithstanding ... Rocky's horse paid $18 for $2 on the end.

BOSTONIAN'S who attended Esther Dorothy's glistening show, "Furs, Gifts of the Gods," in the New York Ritz Carlton's Crystal Room, came home raving about the showmanly display of the Boston fur stylist's creations for 1946-47 ... (The New York trade press went into rhapsodies, too, and several of the metropolitan dailies printed the reviews of what obviously was a group of awe-struck fashion reporters) ... One stylish number that created quite a stir was an ermine cape which measured six yards in circumference ... A mink skirt (an amber mink bolero and wrap-around skirt) was a sensation of the E. Dorothy show, and a little number made of mole evoked gasps and raves ... It's for bathing, or swimming.

NOTE TO HORSE-PLAYERS and Boston's beauty expert, the fabulous Etta: Jimmy Cagney and several of his troupe will make an appearance at the Suffolk mutuels windows.

IT WAS like midseason at the Cape Playhouse, Dennis, the past few days ... Gertrude Lawrence endeared herself to a group of newcomers to the theater by being her gracious and thoughtful self in making four young apprentices feel at home ... Miss Lawrence is the wife of Richard (Dick) Aldrich, producer-manager of the Cape Playhouse.

Broadway

NEW YORK, June 6—International glamor girl Sandra Rambeau and her Mexican bridegroom are knitting tiny garments ... Ginger Rogers and her mama, Lela, are reported planning a Broadway production ... Observers wonder if it's a new romance with Greta Garbo, or if she's just changing her type. She's been spotted in the smart Fifth Avenue ateliers shopping for frilly apparel and buying jewelry ... Carlos Salamanca, the Bolivian diplomat, is swooning over Doris Lilly ... Orrin Lehman, who has been hospitalized since he was wounded in France, faces another operation on his leg ... Universal executives are praying the Deanna Durbin-Mr. and Mrs. Hechtman suit can be settled out of court ... Treasury Department agents, checking up on black marketeers, will be planted all through the vast ringside area at the Louis-Conn fight to spot the big spenders and bettors.

Sandra Rambeau

INTIMATES HINT that Richard Reynolds' divorce may be a more lively affair than the settlement reports indicated. Those Mexican baseball lads, the Pasquels, will further infuriate the big league baseball moguls by bidding heavily for a major team which is about to go on the auction block ... Howard Hughes plans to fly his baybee (Miss Turner) to Canada to glimpse Lake Louise, of all romantic notions ... Natalie Draper, recently divorced from Merrill Pye, and Director Otto Preminger, whose Marian may attempt to divorce him in Mexico, will waltz down the aisle as soon as the legal hurdles are cleared. And Mrs. Preminger's next is reported to be a Swedish Croesus.

MARIE MacDONALD, who called off her marriage to Vic Orsatti, soon will do the same to his contract as her agent. She's getting herself a new 10 per center ... Is singer Mary Small (Mrs. Vic Mizzy) on the stork's list again? ... Cole Porter, wearied by the dual strain of his recent lawsuit and the debut of "Around the World," left Gotham for the wide open spaces before curtain rise on the show's premiere ... Las Vegas night clubs are enjoying such a boom they're beginning to recruit chorus girl lines in New York ... Writer John McClain and pretty-puss Anita Colby are a heart toddy. Sort of an inevitable one, at that.

WHEN I WAS A KID and demurred at eating up all my nice breadcrusts and mashed parsnips I was invariably told: "Some poor Hindu would be glad to get that!"

I remember wondering why the Hindus were so nuts for crusts and mashed parsnips, particularly the latter which I could not abide—and can't yet. But when I asked why they didn't send them to the Hindus then instead of trying to foist them off on me I was given a very stern look and told not to be impertinent if I did not want the back of a hairbrush across my bottom.

I do not know how many crusts of bread and blobs of mashed parsnips we exported to the Hindus in those days but I would guess not many.

Whenever there was talk of taking up a big collection, some illiberal would rise up and say he had seen a magic lantern show in which stinking rich Hindus were riding around on elephants covered with jewels, and why didn't they hock a few elephants or maybe a bushel of rubies and feed their own poor instead of putting the bite on us.

This usually served to kill off any sizable contributions to the Hindus and we went back to being selfish and looking after our own.

These things out of my childhood come back to me now because we are being asked to feed the whole world. We are not just trying to annoy a helpless kiddie any more when we talk of sending our bread to the Hindus.

I HAVE HAD MANY letters on this subject but the one that seems to sum up my own vagrant thoughts is this from Mr. Bernard Thyson, of Pensacola, Fla.:

"As just one American I am definitely tired of being castigated for not reducing my waist line in an effort to feed the starving millions of Europe and Asia. Emphasis seems to be upon the situation in India. Beyond a doubt, millions there are on low rations, probably starving. That is deplorable. Any one with any instinct of humanity will agree that something should be done to help in this case. But I do resent the implication that Americans who are pictured as too fat, too rich, too much of everything that is fleshy, should assume the burden of being responsible for the conditions that prevail at this moment.

"Just as Americans are pictured as having too much of everything, so India is pictured to us with starving millions. In the background, not to be seen unless a magnifying glass is turned on the picture, is a vast number of princes of the realm, kept in office by the English government and the stupidity of the people, sporting jewels worth countless millions of dollars. What are these wealthy princes spending to alleviate the starving millions? Are they 'tightening their belts?' Are they selling any jewels to buy wheat or other food in the United States, Canada or the Argentine? Hell, no!

"What has the English government done during the period from the days of Clive (about 150 or more years ago) to the present to teach the people of India to so cultivate their land that it will reproduce sufficient food for the people living thereon? Practically nothing."

DURING THE SENATE'S night session on President Truman's labor bill, many of our august Senators become sleepy and looked around for handy spots to snatch a quick nap. The cloakroom couches got a heavy play.

Among those who found themselves getting drowsy under the drone of oratory was Sen. Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico. He went looking for a cloakroom couch, found them all occupied.

Snoring the loudest was Sen. Abe Murdock of Utah. Sen. Hatch selected him as victim.

Mr. Hatch outlined his plan to Sen. Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona, who agreed to be an accomplice. In line with the plot, Sen. McFarland shook Sen. Murdock awake and cried:

"There's a fellow on the phone who says he's a judge from your state—says it's important!"

Mr. Murdock flew to the phone. He returned a few minutes later to find Senator Hatch peacefully asleep on his couch!

REP. JAMES H. MORRISON, of Louisiana, was making a campaign speech back home last week when a heckler shouted:

"I wouldn't vote for you if you were St. Peter!"

"If I were St. Peter," retorted Mr. Morrison, "you wouldn't be in my district!"

RIGHT WITH WHITE! Always and forever. With the return to femininity this postwar year . . . white gloves again take their place as the glove that's right for every occasion. Smart with long or short sleeves . . . these American made white kid gloves are as feminine and fashionable as the new walking stick umbrella . . . a dress-up accessory not to be denied a treasured costume— R. Here's Something New in Hair Curlers

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

DAISIES are supposed NOT to tell . . . but poker-straight hair does. It is a "take it or leave it" hairdo that says a gal either doesn't care . . . or thinks it becomes her. On the tailored-type gal, it does look good. On the very young miss . . . it's not so bad.

But on a gal with the slightest ingenue tendency . . . the kitten-soft, clinging appeal which is always so feminine . . . straight hair is like a pan of cold water doused on a fire to extinguish it. It doesn't do much for most girls.

If you're one in many whose appearance is enhanced by flats and flying mane . . . then the subject of today's column is not for you. Stick to the boyish trend . . . flat-chested figure, straight-hanging locks, and ground-gripping flats . . . that's your type.

But most girls like to look soft and subtle . . . or simulate same to a reasonable facsimile of womanhood . . . they yearn to hosey a little of the sweet and girlish for their dress and their hair. And waves . . . even ringlets and curls . . . make a hairdo so much more adaptable to most face types.

Even to the very young . . . from the time they are able to understand what it means to be an adolescent female . . . fond and doting mothers impart the importance of looking feminine. They put up daughter's hair in curlers for the morrow's comb-out of wavy locks. And they decry poker-locks for their offspring . . . they do for themselves . . . knowing full well that it takes a heap of sophistication, groomed to the nth degree face to wear straight hair . . . even if it is coiffured into a psyche knot or Grecian turn.

And so we have a recipe for turning straight hair into whirling ringlets. Not the old-fashioned method of putting hair up in old-fashioned curlers . . but a modern method of curling ironed-out tresses by putting them up in modern curlers.

These are professional hard wood curlers . . . presented for the first time to the public. They are permanent curlers . . . to be used idefinitely . . . by you and any other member of the family. They can be used with any home cold wave set . . . and make those home perms easy achievements . . . creating firm, uniform, close-to-the-scalp waves with a professional artistry.

For the name of these professional hard wood curlers, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, every day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

EVEN POSIES curl up their petals for a more attractive floral appeal . . . and what a posy does a girl should do with her hair . . . curl it for the feminine softness that catches the eye. The lass in the daisy-wraparound is Warner Filmstress Peggy Knudsen . . . whose fresh, fine appearance says she is a pensive cutie from the curls atop her head to the "supposed not to tell" costume. Professional hard wood curlers are hair transformers that do tell.

Home-Made Bread Tips To Meet Bakery Shortage

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

EVEN THE BEST meal planners are frequently faced these days with the problem of how to produce a meal when so many of the familiar food items are missing or in short supply.

In the emergency of the last few days, many women have taken to making their own bread—women who formerly depended on commercial bakeries for their bread supply. We have had many letters asking for bread-making directions, and because it seems appropriate at this time, we are giving these directions today for the benefit of all our readers.

We have a limited supply of recipe booklets for breadmaking which we shall be glad to send to readers upon receipt of a 3 cent stamp. These booklets are beautifully illustrated and contain at least 71 recipes for many types of bread.

Send your request to Martha Lee, Record-American, Boston 6, Mass.

WHITE BREAD
(Quick Method)

2 cups milk 5 tbsp. sugar
2 tbsp. salt 2 cakes yeast
2 cups water
12 to 13 cups sifted flour
4 tbsp. melted shortening

Scald milk, add sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and add to the milk. Then add half the flour and beat until smooth. Add melted shortening and remaining flour, or enough to make easily handled dough. Knead dough quickly and lightly until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl, cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. When light, divide into 4 equal portions and shape into loaves. Place in greased bread pans. Cover and let rise again until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in hot oven at 425 deg. F. 15 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate, or 375 deg. F. and finish baking about 30 minutes longer. Makes 4 loaves.

RAISIN BREAD

1 cake yeast 1 tbsp. sugar
1 cup water
1 cup milk, scalded and cooled
6½ cups sifted flour
4 tbsp. shortening
½ cup sugar
1½ cups raisins, floured
1 tsp. salt

Dissolve yeast and 1 tbsp. sugar in lukewarm water; add lukewarm milk and 2 cups flour. Cream shortening and sugar; add to yeast mixture and beat until smooth. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light, about 1½ hours. When well risen, add raisins, salt and remaining flour, or enough to make a soft dough. Knead lightly.

Place in well greased bowl, cover and let rise again until double in bulk, about 1¼ hours. Shape into loaves, place in well greased pans to half fill, cover and let rise again until light, about 1 hour. Bake in hot oven at 425 deg. F. 15 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate, or 375 deg. F. and finish baking about 45 minutes longer.

OATMEAL BREAD

2 cakes yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
3 cups thick cooked oatmeal (*)
3 tbsp. melted shortening
3 tbsp. sugar 2 tsp. salt
7 cups sifted flour

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water; mix oatmeal, shortening, sugar and salt together; add yeast; mix well. Add flour. Turn out on floured board and knead about 10 or 15 minutes until elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about one hour and 15 minutes. Shape into 3 loaves and place in greased bread pans; cover and let rise until light, about 50 minutes. Bake in moderate oven at 400 deg. F. about one hour. Makes three loaves.

(*) In cooking oatmeal, use 2¼ cups oatmeal to 3 cups water.

Girl Sure She's in Love With Two Different Boys

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I am 19 years old and in love with two boys. One I was engaged to for over a year and a half, and the other one I'm going with now. He is 17, and still going to school.

The one I have been engaged to has come back from the Army and has again asked me to marry him. He broke our first engagement. The boy I am going with now also wants to marry me. He is very nice to me and makes me happy. He promises me a lot of nice things when we get married. This has been going on for over four weeks. What should I do? I can't marry both of them.

PUZZLED.

And you probably can't marry either of them right now anyway—certainly not the 17-year-old who is still going to school—so I don't think you need worry about making up your mind right away, do you? Not unless you're thinking seriously of taking up again with the man you used to be engaged to.

But in any event, it's a pretty safe bet that when a girl thinks she's in love with two, and can't choose between them, she isn't in love with either. When you're really in love, you're not uncertain about it. For better or for worse, you're perfectly sure one particular individual is the man for you.

So I think your best plan is just to coast along for awhile without committing yourself one way or the other and see what happens. I think you'll find that before long your problem will solve itself.

Buy Shoes That Fit

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WE ARE plunging into the three months that are the ones that try women's soles, and the rest of their feet for that matter. And to have your feet comfortable and nice to look at is the biggest single achievement in dress in hot weather.

The first and most important thing to have in Summer footwear is good fit and correct balance, so the weight of your body keeps in line as nature meant it to be. Heels not too high help in balance, and so does the proper placing of the instep arch. You can tell when you try on a shoe if it is right in this way, and you better make sure it is. A good, firm leather sole is of first importance, and after that a certain airiness of the shoe top is very good, but not so much that your foot wobbles around excessively. Don't be arbitrary about your shoe size—buy a shoe that fits you.

Hub to See Dame May Whitty

Dame May Whitty, who appeared here last season in "Therese," will return from Hollywood this month to star in "Night Must Fall," which she will revive in several summer theaters including the Boston Summer Theater.

This is the new summer theater at air-conditioned New England Mutual Hall which John Huntington and Lee Falk are opening on Monday evening, June 24, with Dame May in the Emlyn Williams thriller.

"The Postman Always Rings Twice," Metro's film adaptation of James M. Cain's best-seller starring Lane Turner and John Garfield, is remaining for a second week on Loew's twin screens. These handsome sinners are dealt full retribution in the lethal climax.

Serget Koussevitzky, conducting a chamber orchestra of Boston Symphony players at Tanglewood prior to the Berkshire Festival, will present two programs of Bach and Mozart music. The first of the Bach-Mozart programs will be presented in the Theater-Concert Hall on Saturday evening, July 13, and Sunday afternoon, July 14; the second on Saturday evening, July 20, and Sunday afternoon, July 21. The concerts preserve a custom established in the last two summers at Tanglewood, when the festival by the full orchestra was necessarily suspended.

Russell Collins has been signed for a role in the Theater Guild's production of Eugene O'Neill's "The Iceman Cometh."

Nat Karson has acquired for production this fall a new musical, "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," for which S. J. Perelman and Albert Hirschfeld wrote the book, Ogden Nash the lyrics and Vernon Duke the music. The story has to do with the antics of the natives in the United States during the year 2076 A. D., the Tercentenary of the Declaration of Independence.

Readers of a best-selling national woman's magazine rate Bing Crosby as their favorite male star, Greer Garson, favorite femme star, and "Going My Way," the top release of last year.

OPA Curb Bill Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—An OPA bill laden with grief for the Administration began its journey to the Senate floor today. The bill would extend price control one year beyond June 30 in sharply curtailed form.

Here are some major features of the bill, condemned as "monstrous" by Stabilization Director Bowles:

Price control over livestock, meat, poultry, eggs and dairy products would end June 30. The Agriculture Secretary would say what other farm products remain under price ceilings.

"Cost absorption" would be out and the $2,000,000,000 in subsidies requested by OPA would be cut to $1,100,000,000, and no food subsidies could be paid after May 1, 1947.

OPA's maximum average price order, designed to keep manufacture of low priced clothing going, would be repealed. OPA could not control any item not controlled May 1 this year.

Labor Caucus, Walkout Concur

SEATTLE, June 6 (AP)—World maritime leaders opening an international conference here today in an effort to improve working and living conditions of seafaring men may be given a demonstration of American labor strategy

The opening of the International Labor Organization's maritime conference was scheduled for the same hour as a work stoppage by two AFL-maritime unions but there was no indication from union leaders of any connection.

Labor delegates from the 32 nations already represented in conference caucuses looked to Labor Sec. Schellenback's opening address to indicate the United States' attitude on the chief issue—a minimum wage for able seamen.

Workers' representatives plan to push for the highest minimum wage they can obtain.

Nurse Aids Needed At Vets' Hospital

Volunteer nurse's aids are badly needed at the West Roxbury Veterans Hospital and at City Hospital, the Red Cross said today in announcing a new training course to start Monday, June 24, at the Red Cross building in Gloucester st., Back Bay.

Women 18 years old or over with high school education or equivalent are needed, and because the shortage will be most serious this summer the appeal was directed particularly at school teachers and college students. The work is all done in daytime hours.

Invalid Carried To Safety in Fire

MONSON, June 6—Carried to safety when flames swept their Main st. home, Mrs. Henry F. Miller, invalid wife of the Monson tax collector, apparently was none the worse for her experience today. She was rescued by neighbors.

Miller, who uses his home as the town office, saved town records and cash by placing them in a fireproof safe.

N. Y. Bout for Red Priest If He Beats Blackwood

By JACK CONWAY

NEW YORK, June 6—Mike Jacobs took time out from his title bout promotions today to announce he will enter Al "Red" Priest, Cambridge, Mass., middleweight, in his middleweight tournament if the former All-America ring king wins from the clever and hard-hitting Joe Blackwood in their 10-round bout at the Boston Garden tomorrow night.

Al Priest

"I find a growing interest in the middleweight class," said Jacobs. "Even with the Bartolo-Pep featherweight title bout tomorrow night and the Louis-Conn tussle on June 19, I am already getting requests for reservations for the Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano world's middleweight title contest on July 25. I have not even decided on the price scale for the Zale-Graziano bout. It is a show that will draw $250,000, which will be a new high for a middleweight battle.

"Jake LaMotta has already signified he would like to meet the winner. On his record in Boston rings, Priest is also entitled to title consideration. They tell me Priest is one of the busiest punchers in his class. He would give a good account of himself against a wide open hitter like Graziano. The last time I saw Priest in action was when he won an All-America ring title in New York.

"Priest's record in bouts in Boston proves he has come a long ways since he got out of the ranks of the amateurs."

Mike added that Joe Blackwood may upset his plans to feature Priest.

"Blackwood is a youngster who keeps getting better with each bout," said Mike. "I like his courage as well as his boxing skill and sharp hitting. He will give Priest plenty of trouble. I liked the way Blackwood stepped in and disposed of Joey LaMotta, who is a top middleweight."

Priest is today the hottest ring attraction in New England. It is likely that a near capacity crowd will witness him in action against Blackwood. While Al knocked out Blackwood in seven rounds in their last bout, there are many persons who believe Blackwood and his bolo punch will win tomorrow night. Priest is a 10 to 8 favorite, and he will have to toss every punch in the book and keep stepping on high every second he is in the ring if he is to win.

Pep Rules Favorite

WILLIE PEP, recognized as world's featherweight champion, will be striving to score his 100th ring victory when he opposes Sal Bartolo of East Boston, NBA title holder, at the New York Garden tomorrow night in a tussle that will decide who is the real world's champion. The 15-round route will enable Pep and Bartolo to show what boxing skill and punching power they possess.

It will be the third bout between the featherweight rivals. The previous matches were staged in Boston with Pep first winning an overweight contest after a close battle, and then taking the duke by a wide margin in a 15-round title skirmish.

Bartolo is at the peak of his form. He has shown amazing speed and hitting power in recent bouts. Sal contends that Pep has slowed down and will be unable to get away from his blazing fistic fire. There is considerable interest in the bout. There will be a special train from Hartford which will take Connecticut fans to New York for the bout.

How Good Is Louis?

BOXING EXPERTS who have seen Billy Conn in training at Greenwood Lake, N. J., agreed he is in prewar form and ready to box Joe Louis right now. Conn's weight is 183½ pounds, while he has shown speed and hitting power in his workouts.

There is a division of opinion in regard to Louis. All agree the "Brown Bomber" is not at the peak of his boxing form. Some of the experts contend Louis still has enough time in which to get ready for Conn, while others insist the "Brown Bomber" has accumulated inside fat as a result of age and inactivity and that he will not be able to take it off within the next two weeks.

The advance sale for the title bout is roaring ahead. Now that Conn has proved he is ready the public feels it will witness a hard battle. There is $1,800,000 in the box office, and it is a certainty that the $2,600,000 mark of the second Dempsey-Tunney bout in Chicago will be shattered.

Sox Try Secret Weapon In Final Browns Game

By FRED HOEY

Manager Joe Cronin of the Red Sox unveiled his 1946 secret weapon this after noon at Fenway Park. This deadly defensive missile is Broadway Charlie Wagner, right-hander and the Beau Brummel of baseball. Wagner has been held under cover since the season's opening. He hasn't pitched even in a relief role.

Wagner is no push over. He has more than good looks and swell clothes. He possesses everything a big league pitcher needs but the opportunity to go out there on the mound and prove it.

Charlie's last chore on the Sox mound was in 1942 when he won 14 games and dropped 11. A three year hitch in the Navy hasn't dimmed or affected his effectiveness, according to catchers who have warmed him up over the last two and one half months.

The Sox have played the Browns six times this season and have dropped one game. That was to Kramer in St. Louis. He licked them 3 to 1 in a three-hitter.

Overcoming all Western opposition at Fenway Park this season got to be almost a habit until the Brownies reared up yesterday and came back with a bang. So disastrous was this counter attack that the Sox were glad to settle for an 8-8 tie in 12 innings when darkness put an end to hostilities.

Between the one hour intermission caused by rain and the subsequent proceedings which ended at 7:35 p. m., the game itself required 3 hours and 29 minutes to play.

It looked for a time as though the elements would combine with the umpire-in-chief to give the Sox a win. They have been lucky of late.

Umpire-in-Chief Joe Rue may thank his lucky stars that the sky broke fair after over an hour of steady rain. Rue turned in one of the richest decisions of the year when he called the game because of rain in the ninth inning with three Brownies on base and nobody out, Sox leading by only one run, 7 to 6.

No wonder Manager Luke Sewell of the Browns protested vigorously. The teams had been playing in the same downpour for 40 minutes or more. In justice to the Browns, they should have had a chance to finish this ninth inning at the time. But Rue ruled otherwise and the game was held up until the rain stopped and the sky cleared.

Rue's big mistake was that he didn't call the game the end of the first half of the eigthh inning. The rain was falling sufficiently heavy at that time.

Admitting for the moment that Rue was lax in calling the game, other conditions enter in his ninth inning decision that fairly supported his verdict. Base running and even fielding on the slippery field was a hazard. It would have been tough if the Sox' players came up with a double-play only to throw it away because of the wet ball.

So, Rue may thank Lady Luck that the rain stopped and the sky cleared so that he was able to order the game on again.

Naturally enough, when the Browns got back into action with the bases loaded and nobody out something was almost bound to happen. It did. They scored two runs and were out front 8-7.

Then the Sox started to manufacture the tying run in their half of the ninth with singles by "Cat" Metkovitch and Johnny Pesky, followed by a walk to Williams and Bobby Doerr's long outfield fly.

Careless base running on the part of Pesky snuffed out a possible chance for the Sox to grab the game. Johnny was on second when Rudy York hit sharply to Dillinger at third. The ball got away from the latter. Pesky raced for this third. When he saw Dillinger fumble he rounded third and was bound for home. Smart Dillinger whipped the ball to Catcher Mancuso, who in turn flipped it back to Dillinger. Pesky was a dead duck before he could return to third.

Stephens Hits Well Despite Bad Shoulder

For a guy with a bad shoulder Verne Stephens did all right. He made a homer, two singles and walked twice . . . Rudy York was the fair-haired Sox. His homer and double accounted for four Boston runs . . . Tom McBride looked great as lead-off man. He doubled and singled. "Cat" Metkovitch replaced him late in the game and contributed a single. The "Cat" made a strong bid for the game in the eleventh when his line fly was caught by Joe Grace just ahead of the Sox bull pen.

It looked very much as though those six Boston pitchers need plenty of work, and not in the bull pen either . . . Doerr came up with only a single but he was a ball of fire afield. His single in the first drove in one run. His long outfield fly in the ninth scored the 8-8 equalizer . . . Two more RBI's to send his total to 42 . . . The attendance was 11,099, including 427 service men . . . And most of the crowd stayed through.

That Pesky to Doerr to York double play was a beauty on the last end when Rudy made an almost impossible reach to get the wide throw. York fell on his face but he held the bag and the ball . . . Jim Bagby was in constant trouble while he worked . . . Jim appeared to be trying to put too much on the ball and was missing the plate . . . Earl Johnson was his usual calm and smiling self as he took over in the ninth. Earl is ripe for physical research in an endeavor to learn whether he possesses nerves of any sort . . . Even the pidgeons were annoyed by the late game. They came, dropped and left near the end of the battle.

Bill Butland looked fine for four innings and then in the fifth something fell on him. This splinter could stand plenty of work . . . DiMaggio's gloved hand catch of Dillinger's line fly in the sixth, which resulted in Sam Zoldak being doubled off first, was a gem . . . Yo 's's double, in the sixth, came in the proper spot with the bases loaded. Three runs scored . . . Fans are now asking whether the Sox are kidding the opposition. The Browns were up, 6 to 2, and the Croninmen bounced back. This has happened frequently during Boston's home stay. The bookmakers, who make the odds, must get a reverse kick out of this Red Sox habit.

Striped Bass Hitting Hard Off Hingham

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Striped bass, averaging from 3 to 15 pounds each, are now plentiful in the waters of Hingham Harbor—and they're very delicious. We know, for we had one for dinner last night.

With Ace Loud, sparkplug of the Hingham Sportsmen's Club, as our "guide," we set forth in search of this specie Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by "The Missus" . . . After obtaining several dozen huge seaworms from Dick Holton's bait shop, we cruised over to World's End, where spinners and lines were put in motion, trolling through the grayish waves.

Fish were numerous, it was apparent, since they started to strike with machine gun rapidity, but the trick was to hook 'em. A party of three anglers in a nearby dory watched our futile efforts for a while, then one of the men grinned, holding up three nice catches, which caused us to redouble our efforts.

Hour churned by . . . Scores of strikes . . . No stripers!

"This is terrible!" declared Ace. "Here I've caught fish for three consecutive days, but I can't get you folks tied into any."

Ebb tide—and then it happened . . . Wham! . . . A bass hit the bait like a charging fullback, streaked through the foam, dove, broke water, and leaped in the style of a bronco . . . After a few minutes, the 10-pounder was brought to gaff, landed by "The Missus."

Then it was Ace's turn, and he boated another good-sized specimen, continuing to "bat for 1.000" in his home waters.

ANGLING ANGLES: Harry and Dick Holton will soon have 14 boats ready for sportsmen at Hingham harbor. Many private craft are docked there, and several have been taking their share of stripers . . . Some experts think the striped bass cycle is on a downward trend, but we believe a real stretch of warm, sunny weather will explode this theory.

From Al Tripp's at Manomet Point, beyond Plymouth, comes word that countless large cod are being caught, while Al Lagerstrom's party, from Pawtucket, R. I., returned recently with the first haddock of the season . . . Eleanor Tripp hopes that the storms will stop arriving with the week-ends, adding that Bill Bradford, Al's erstwhile bait man from Kingston, just out of the Air Corps, took 150 pounds of cod in two hours on the holiday, with his wife.

BC Plans to Hold Basketball Clinic For School Pilots

A two-day basketball clinic for the benefit of schoolboy coaches will be held at the Boston College gymnasium next November 29 and 30 under the sponsorship of the Boston Basketball Writers Ass'n, according to an announcement issued this morning by its president, Arthur Sampson.

Prominent coaches who have volunteered to address the gathering are Ozzie Cowles, of Dartmouth College; John W. Bunn, former Stanford University mentor, now located at Springfield College; Frank W. Keaney, of the high-scoring Rhode Island State quintet; and Robert (Red) Rolfe, who recently left Yale to return to the New York Yankees. Other well-known cage leaders are expected to be added to the faculty.

Sampson also disclosed that the clinic will be followed by a doubleheader at the Boston Arena on Saturday evening, Nov. 30, with Holy Cross meeting a New England college all-star quintet, to be coached by Cowles; and Braintree (Mass.) high school facing a team composed of Greater Boston schoolboy stars.

The doubleheader will be the first played upon the Arena's new $13,000 floor which, it is said, will be the nation's finest court.

All Favorites Bow In W.G.A. Tourney

By BILL GRIMES

CHARLES RIVER COUNTRY CLUB, June 6—After running true to form for two days, the favorites were all beaten today during the quarter finals of the WGA championship here. Mrs. George R. Norby, Wachusett, medalist of the qualifying round, eliminated Mrs. John Grew, the 1933 champion, with a thrilling finish. Her niece, Mrs. Donald K. McClosky of Worcester, put out the other former titleholder, Rosemond Vahey, three-time winner of the title, 1 up.

Mrs. Paul G. Black, Marshfield, turned in the third upset, when she pinned a 2 and 1 defeat on Mrs. Henri F. Prunaret of the home club, who was the unsuccessful finalist in the "State" in 1933.

Mrs. Willie Howard, Wellesley, had to go 20 holes to eliminate Mrs. C. F. Bartholomew, Dedham. Mrs. Howard was two up at the turn but she dropped the next four holes. So, coming off the 13th green, Mrs. Bartholomew was two up with five to play, which is regarded as a jinx.

It was.

Mrs. Howard squared the match by winning the 14th and 15th with pars and then they halved the next four holes. At the 20th they were both short in three but Mrs. Howard got down in one putt for a par and a win.

Mrs. Norby got off to a 7-7 start and, of course was 2 down but then she pulled herself together, playing the remainder of the outward nine holes in one under par to be even at the turn.

After winning the 10th, Mrs. Norby held her one hole lead through the 12th but then she got all tangled up in the brook at the 13th winding up with another seven and was all even.

At the short 14th, Mrs. Grew was trapped from the tee and dropped to 1 down, when her opponent got a regulation par for a win. Mrs. Norby was in enough trouble at the 15th and 16th to drop both holes to be 1 down and two to play.

Mrs. Norby squared the match with an across the-green put for a deuce at the 17th. Then she won the match and advanced into the semifinals with a birdie at the home hole.

Mrs. Paul G. Black won a nip-and-tuck match with Mrs. Prunaret. The little girl from Marshfield was one down going to the sixth, but by taking three of the next four holes she made the turn with a two up advantage. Although there wasn't a halved hole until the 14th, Mrs. Black was still two up going to 13, which she won with a par only to drop the 16th to a par.

At the short 17th, neither was on the green from the tee and then Mrs. Black flubbed her approach, but the match was over when Mrs. Prunaret failed to get a holeable putt for a three.

Although she was two down and three to play, Miss Vahey carried Mrs. McClusky to the home hole. The former champion was two down at the turn and dropped back another hole by losing the 11th, where she took four to get home.

Mrs. McClusky three-putted the 14th for a loss and also dropped the 16th and 17th. She managed to protect her one-hole lead at the 18th to win one up.

Golf Summary

Mrs. Julia Norby, Wachusett, defeated Mrs. John Grew, Dedham, 1 up.

Mrs. Paul Black, Marshfield, defeated Mrs. Henri Prunaret, Charles River, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Donald K. McClosky, Worcester, defeated Miss Rosamond Vahey, 1 up.

Mrs. Willie Howard, Wellesley, defeated Mrs. C. F. Bartholomew, Dedham, 1 up, 20 holes.

High Flying BC Meets Villanova

The high flying Boston College Eagles, winners of 12 of their last 13 starts, were to meet the Villanova Wildcats this afternoon at Alumni Field.

Fred Maguire, B. C. coach, named Gerry Levinson as his hurler, and the Jewish freshman faced Stan Chojnacki, one of the better pitchers in college ranks.

Chojnacki, an ex-GI and a freshman, has won four and lost none and is rated as a fine prospect for the majors. A curve ball artist with plenty of control, the Wildcat chucker has had complete mastery in each game he has pitched.

Levinson, who also is a basketball and football star, has a slate that shows three wins against one loss. His last victory was in a relief role against Northeastern. His only loss of the season was suffered at the hands of New Hampshire State.

With the Wildcats is one of the cleverest outfielders in college today, Dan Casey, who played with Johnny VanderMeer's Navy team in the Pacific, has had several offers to break into pro ball, but the Villanova slugger turned them down. He covers ground like an antelope and possesses one of the finest arms of a college outfielder, so says his coach Phil Weinhert.

B. C., still fresh from their recent 6-1 win over the Tufts Gumbos, are sure that they will be able to tame the Wildcats. They place their confidence in the fact that they have been on a hitting rampage of late and should be able to gather a few runs, which Levinson, in return, promises will be all that he will need to give the locals their 13th win.

Cub Kush Rivals Sox Johnson

Emil Kush, a local boy from Chicago's North Side, who waited nine long years to make a boyhood dream come true, was rivalling the Boston Red Sox' Earl Johnson as the number one relief pitcher in the major leagues today, according to the Associated Press.

Not since Jack Russell, whose yeoman relief work helped the Chicago Cubs win the 1938 National League pennant, have the Bruins boasted such a brilliant rescue artist as this 29-year-old right-hander.

Kush was signed to a Cub contract back in '37 at the then tender age of 20, and spent five years with various Chicago farm clubs before he was given a chance to show his wares at Wrigley Field where he often had worked as a peanut and pop vendor as a kid. Just when it seemed his ambition was realized, he was beckoned by the Navy where he spent the next four years.

Back with the Cubs this spring, Kush renewed his local-boy-makes-good efforts, but with the start of the season, found himself relegated to relief roles. His work at rescuing other hurlers has been so consistently good since he won his first game the second day of the season, that now Kush finds it next to impossible to get a starting berth. Manager Charlie Grimm figures him too valuable a relief pitcher to convert him into a starter.

Kush gained his fourth victory without a defeat yesterday—all of them in relief roles—as the Cubs shaded the Giants 6-5 to move into third place in the National League pennant race. The native Chicagoan entered the game in the seventh inning after the Giants had pummelled Johnny Schmitz and two successors for a dozen hits and all their runs, and held the New Yorkers hitless the rest of the way.

The Cubs, however, could gain no ground on the pace-setting Dodgers and second place Cardinals who won their games to retain their respective six and half and three-game margins over the Bruins.

The Brooks downed the Bucs, 5-3. Kirby Higbe was credited with his fourth win for the Dodgers, but had to leave the game in the seventh when he pulled a back muscle fielding Jeep Handley's bunt. Rube Melton, making his first appearance of the year, tamed the Corsairs the rest of the way.

The Yankees reduced the American League leading Red Sox margin to six and a half games when they waltzed to a 9-6 decision over the White Sox before 57,283 paid fans at the third night game in Yankee Stadium history. Although held to seven hits, the Yanks received 15 walks and took advantage of six errors.

B's Send Wallace After Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, June 6—The luckless Braves square off again against the Cardinals under lights tonight and pin their hopes on little Jimmy Wallace (2-2) to beat Howie Pollet (4-3).

Billy Southworth's Tribe still failed to make enough runs to win a game for big Ed Wright, so the Cards took their second straight arc light game from the Braves last night, 2-1.

Wright held the foe runless for six innings and gave up a single marker in the seventh and another in the ninth when pinch hitter Buster Adams singled with the bases loaded.

Twice the Braves had the bases loaded, in the fifth and in the seventh. Connie Ryan singled across Carden Gillenwater in the second stanza for the only Boston score.

New Swedish Runner Symphony of Motion

COMPTON, Cal., June 6 (AP)—Rhythmic is the word for Iean Lennart Strand, the latest running importation from Sweden, who starts his assault on American 1500-meter and mile records at the Compton Invitational meet tomorrow.

The long-faced 24-year-old Swede who conquered both Gunder Gagg and Arne Andersson runs like a feather-tooted gazelle, with no waste motion in any part of his slight five-foot, eight-inch, 140-pound frame.

The personable Strand gave a smooth demonstration of his talents in putting the finishing touches on his training for his American debut.

First he ran about a mile and a half bare-footed on the grassy outskirts of the Long Beach municipal golf course. Strand, like his traveling predecessor, Hagg, prefers to do all his training on grass.

"It feels better," says Strand in his remarkably clear English. "Besides, it builds up your arches."

He has walked around the Compton track, but doesn't intend to run on it until the meet tomorrow night—when it really counts. His main competition is expected to come from the Olympic Club's Johnny Fulton, ex-Standford ace. USC's Roland Sink and Jimmy Rafferty of the New York A. C. declined the bid to face Strand.

The compton 1500-meter record is 3:51.4, set by Les MacMitchell in 1941. Stand is aiming for 3:50, "if all goes right." He has done 3:46.6, not too far behind Hagg's world mark of 3:43.

Pirates May Strike Tomorrow Night

PITTSBURGH, June 6 (AP)—Major league baseball faces the threat of the first union strike in its long history here tomorrow night in a scheduled game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Giants.

Robert Murphy, ruddy-faced labor relations director of the American Baseball Guild, announced last night the Pittsburgh Pirates had voted unanimously not to take the field against the Giants unless Bucs' officials meet their demands for an immediate collective bargaining election.

He said he would telephone president William E. Benswanger today and ask him for his decision.

Only a dramatic eleventh-hour session in the Pirates' clubhouse kept the strike from coming off before last night's game with Brooklyn, which the Dodgers won, 5-3.

The rapid-fire developments followed a breakdown of a conference earlier in the day at Benswanger's office, during which the Pirate management suggested the Guild issue be deferred until the baseball season is over.

First word of the strike threat came shortly after 6 o'clock when Murphy met with the players and telephoned Pirate officials the players had voted to stay in the dressing room until Benswanger came to talk to them. If Benswanger didn't show up within an hour, Murphy said he "wouldn't be responsible if the game did not go on." He said the players were ready to vote in that event.

But Benswanger heeded the ultimatum and made his first trip to the Pirate clubhouse in 12 years, while thousands of fans poured into Forbes Field unaware of the drama that was being enacted.

Benswanger let Seward H. French, Jr., his chief counsel, do most of the talking. But he did tell the players he thought he always had been fair with them and would leave any decision up to them.

French reiterated the club's stand that recognition of the Guild should be postponed until the end of the baseball season.

Murphy, addressing the players, asserted Pirate officials were "just stalling until the end of the year when they know the players will all be home and we can't reach them."

He told them "the club could have signed an agreement this afternoon which would have facilitated an election within five days."

The players just sat around and listened.

The Bucs, who had appeared for batting practice but failed to take their infield drill, made their decision to go ahead with last night's game a bare 20 minutes before the scheduled 8:30 p. m. (EDT) starting hour. By that time the crowd had swelled to more than 26,000.

Murphy told reporters the strie ultimatum wasn't made for today's game with Brooklyn because he "wanted time for public reaction to set in."

He said if the strike were called for today a lot of people might show up at the park "and they'd be plenty mad at the Guild." The crowd, he added, had motivated the players to withhold their strike last night.

The strike, if it materializes, will not be the first one in baseball. There was one May 18, 1912, when the Detroit Tigers refused to play against the Philadelphia Athletics, but that was because of the suspension of the immortal Ty Cobb.

Murphy and French clashed repeatedly at a heated 45-minute open meeting in the afternoon, at which Murphy sought "to work out a consent determination that we have a majority of the Pirates signed."

Murphy, rejecting the club's requested postponement of the recognition issue, snapped that "club delays might go on until 1948—and by that time some of the players might be in Peoria." His temper flare when the management counsel suggested an election would be a disrupting factor to the team at this stage of the season.

Strike Means Forfeit Or Makeshift Buc Team

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Unless the Pirates field some sort of baseball team at 8:30 tomorrow night at Forbes Field they will lose a game to the Giants by forfeit, 9 to 0, President Ford Frick of the National League said today.

"I would have no alternative if the Pirates should strike and Manager Frank Frisch should find it impossible to put a team on the field," he explained. "The rules are very explicit on that point.

"However, there is nothing that says Frisch could not field a makeshift team, just so long as every player is signed to an official National League contract. Frisch, himself, and his coaches would be eligible to play if they had themselves returned to an active status. They could sign up sandlotters if they wanted to."

In other words, he admitted, there is nothing in the rules and regulations of baseball that compell any club to maintain a big league standard of play.

Neither, Frick said, is there anything to prevent a club, in the event of its being hamstrung by a player strike, from postponing any number of its home games because of "threatening weather" and thus avoiding a forfeit.

The home club has the complete say-so about whether a game shall be played up to the moment just before game time when the coaches of the two teams hand their lineups to the plate umpire.

Wagner Duels Browns at Fens

FENWAY PARK, June 6—Still a bit groggy after their 12-inning marathon which kept them on the field until 7:30 last night, the Red Sox and Browns closed their series before a crowd of 18,000 fans here today. The contest marked Charlie (Broadway) Wagner's first appearance on the home hill this season. That meant the Beau Brummel of the Sox staff was pitching in big league competition for the first time since 1942, when he joined the Navy.

Charlie was handed a man-sized assignment. In the Brownies' box was Jack Kramer, who owns a 4-1 record and hurled a three-hit shutout against the Hose in a night game on their last visit to St. Louis. Incidentally, the lone defeat on the Kramer card was put there by the Ironmen.

The midweek tie game marred but didn't break a couple of Sox records. The league leaders have chalked up six straight decisions without suffering a setback and have won 13 games in a row

FIRST INNING

BROWNS—Higgins threw out Dillinger. Doerr tossed out Grace. Stephens went out, C. Wagner to York. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Metkovitch went out, Dahlgren to Kramer, who covered first. Pesky singled. Williams singled and Pesky was out trying for third, Grace to Dillinger. Doerr popped to Stephens. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

BROWNS—Berardino doubled. Judnich grounded out to York. Garella flied to DiMaggio, Berardino scoring after the catch. Dahlgren struck out. ONE RUN.

RED SOX—York walked. DiMaggio hit into a double play, Berardino to Stephens to Dahlgren. Stephens threw out Higgins. No RUNS.

THIRD INNING

BROWNS—Mancuso flied to Williams. Kramer struck out. Higgins threw out Dillinger. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—H. Wagner grounded out to Dahlgren. Berardino threw out C. Wagner. Metkovich went out the same way. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

BROWNS—Grace flied to Williams. Pesky threw out Stephens. Berardino flied to Metkovich. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Dillinger threw out Pesky. Berardino tossed out Williams. Doerr hit a home run into the nets in left field. York singled. DiMaggio walked. Higgins walked, filling the bases. H. Wagner was safe when Dahlgren fumbled hs grounder, York scoring. Berardin recovered the ball and tossed to Kramer who was covering first, but Umpire Weafer declared H. Wagner safe and Kramer started to argue with Weafer and while the argument was going on DiMaggio also scored.

Kramer and Weafer kept bumping each other. Kramer was put out of the game by Ump. Weafer. After more arguments Ump. Passarella called DiMaggio back to third claiming time had been called and DiMaggio had no right to score for Ump. Weafer had called time. Miller replaced Kramer for the Browns.

DiMaggio was out stealing home. Miller to Mancuso. TWO RUNS.
